Meets Rusk, McNamara

Kennedy Opens Planning On Peace-With-Strength

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy launches a sweeping review today for the master plan his administration will pursue in its quest for a safeguarded peace with the Communist bloc.

At the start of his first week in the White House, the new chief executive set up morning and afternoon conferences with his secretary of state, Dean Rusk, and Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara.

The double conference—the only announced business on his agenda today—demonstrated the priority Kennedy attaches to seeking an easing of East-West tension while beefing up the nation's defenses.

A grim reminder of troubles ahead reportedly came in a secret message from Ambassador Llewellyn E. Thompson who met Saturday in Moscow with Soviet Premier Khrushchev.

Thompson's cable was understood to report that Khrushchev, while talking hopefully of an agreement with the Kennedy administration—in private had adopted the same tough, unyielding position on issues that wrecked previous Western hopes.

Kennedy got a preview during a White House luncheon Sunday of Rusk's thinking about Khrushchev's maneuvers. Undersecretary of State-designate Chester Bowles also attended.

Kennedy, moving about in the unpredictable fashion that has become almost routine since inauguration, popped into the press room for a surprise visit.

He was accompanied by his wife, Jacqueline, looking like a fashionable teen-ager as she strolled through the White House lobby, wearing beige riding pants and a three-quarters length sports coat.

White House guards, who never had seen anything like it during the Eisenhower administration, stared goggle-eyed.

After going to church Sunday, Kennedy kept up a rapid-fire work pace. By late afternoon, he named an undersecretary of the Navy, two assistant secretaries of commerce, and a three-man panel to advise him on conflict of interest problems and ethics in government.

He picked Paul Fay Jr., 42, an independent Republican businessman from San Francisco, to be Navy undersecretary. Fay, who helped campaign for him, was in Kennedy's wartime torpedo boat squadron.

As assistant commerce secretaries, he chose Hickman Price Jr., Detroit, director of the Mercedes Benz automobile branch in Brazil, and Rowland Burnston, a Chicagoan, president of Borg-Warner International Corp.

Members of the study panel will be Prof. Bayless A. Manning of Yale Law School, Jefferson Fordham, dean of the University of Pennsylvania's Law School, and Judge Calvert Magruder, formerly chief judge of the 1st Circuit Court of Appeals, panel chairman.

Tug Dispute Strike Ends At New York

Agreement To Ease Railroad Tieups In Eastern Part Of U.S.

NEW YORK (AP) — A two-week-old harbor strike that had caused a paralyzing railroad tie-up throughout much of the East was ended today by tentative agreement on a new work pact.

Mediators, including President Kennedy's new secretary of labor, Arthur J. Goldberg, met in a marathon 14-hour session that ended with the announcement of a settlement at 6:18 a.m.

The strike of railroad tug and ferry boat workers against 11 railroads that operate in New York harbor had crippled the city's commuter transportation, forcing 100,000 persons to look for other means of getting to and from work.

The walkout of the 664 workers in three marine unions on Jan. 10 had also virtually shut down the New York Central and the New Haven railroads.

Both roads said they hoped to get back into operation by Tuesday morning.

The unions have called a ratification meeting for later in the day at the Seafarers International Union headquarters in Brooklyn.

Both sides were expected to okay the pact.

Both Mayor Robert F. Wagner and Gov. Nelson Rockefeller, who had invited Goldberg to attend the sessions, praised the new labor secretary for his contribution to the settlement.

Goldberg flew to New York less than 24 hours after he had been sworn into Kennedy's Cabinet.

The key to the settlement was an agreement to postpone the touchy issue of job security. The unions had asked to have present five-man tug crews remain frozen. But operators wanted any new contract to state that management had the right to decide the number of men needed.

Both sides finally agreed to defer any decision until next December when a White House study on railroad-managing problems is completed.

The striking marine unions, besides the Seafarers, where Marine Engineers Beneficial Association and the International Organization of Masters, Mates and Pilots.

After Seafarer pickets showed up at the big union terminal in Cleveland, Ohio, Sunday, the Central—the nation's second largest—practically shut down its Western division. Its Eastern division had been hit last week.

The idle train crews were not directly involved in the dispute, but they refused to cross marine picket lines.

North Side Child Injured As Sled Goes Under Auto

A North Side child, injured in a sledding accident, underwent surgery Sunday at City Hospital.

Two women injured in falls also were admitted to the hospital, where 15 others were treated over the weekend.

Sharon Williams, 6, daughter of Donald Williams, 806 Oak St., is in "fair" condition today with injuries suffered in the sledding mishap yesterday shortly before 3 p. m.

The child was crowded off the road and went under a parked car. She suffered a laceration of the scalp and head injuries. She underwent surgery at the hospital shortly after she was admitted.

Senate Eyes Confirmation For 13 Aides

Opposition Declared On Bowles, Connally For Kennedy Posts

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate leaders hope to win confirmation today for 13 of President Kennedy's nominees for positions below Cabinet level. At least two nominees face some opposition.

The Cabinet was sworn in Saturday afternoon a short time after it won Senate approval.

Sen. Wayne Morse, D-Ore., served notice he was opposed to the selection of John B. Connally Jr. of Texas as the new secretary of the Navy because of his past ties with the oil industry.

Sen. Norris Cotton, R-N.H., has announced he is against approval of Chester Bowles as undersecretary of state. Bowles, a former member of the House, was a foreign policy adviser to Kennedy during the campaign.

Cotton questions Bowles' attitude toward future relations with Red China, although the nominee has testified he opposes immediate recognition of the Communist Chinese regime or its admission to the United Nations.

Suspect Files Denial In City Murder Case

Opposition Declared On Bowles, Connally For Kennedy Posts

A Beechwood man, charged with second degree murder in the slaying of his attractive wife, pleaded not guilty today when arraigned before Common Pleas Judge Joel H. Sharp at Lisbon.

Judge Sharp set bond at $10,000 for Raymond G. Campbell, who now resides at 618 River Rd.

Campbell is accused of slaying his wife Nov. 28 at their home but the Grand Jury reduced the charge from first to second degree.

Three other men, accused of grand larceny in the wholesale theft of gasoline from the American Oil Co. bulk station on the River Rd., also pleaded innocent.

Bonds of $1,500 were set for James Ronald Glover of Church St., Chester; Robert Wright of Glenmoor, and James Martin, 2021 Chester Ave., Wellsville.

Robert Salsbery, 34, of 308 W. 7th St., also entered an innocent plea to a charge of assault with a deadly weapon. His bond was set at $1,500.

Others pleading not guilty, the charges and the bonds fixed were: Robert Borden and Henry Clay Bailey, both of Warren, theft of a 17-inch television set from Central Service on Dresden Ave., $1,000 each.

Eugene Beaver of Glenmoor, assault and battery on a 12-year-old baby sister, $1,500.

Albert E. Shastene, 36, of Lisbon R. D. 1, operating a motor vehicle without the owner's consent, $1,000.

Arnold Adkins, 25, of 711 E. 4th St., was sentenced to 1-20 years in the state penitentiary after pleading guilty to a charge of operating a motor vehicle without the owner's consent. Adkins asked for immediate sentencing.

Lyle Maxwell of West Virginia also was sentenced to 1-20 years for forgery of a $38 check at the A. & P. supermarket here.

Judge Sharp withheld sentencing Joseph Stephen Volke, 33, of North Lima R. D. 1 until his record can be reviewed by the prosecutor's office. Volke pleaded guilty to a charge of larceny for entering the garage of Lawrence Coy of Columbiana.

Paul G. Kidd, 21, of Columbiana R. D. 2, indicted with Volke in the Columbiana theft, and Norman R. McLaughlin, 18, of North Lima, charged with entering the John Faulkner garage to commit larceny, entered guilty pleas.

GOP Unites Top Aides In West Virginia

Weaver Gets Party Aide Post; Planning Trip To Panhandle

CHARLESTON — If they had come tromping out of the Daniel Boone Hotel carrying "Barron Beware" placards and shouting the "Battle Hymn of the Republic," it wouldn't have been more obvious.

West Virginia's Republican leaders had a top-level strategy meeting yesterday afternoon. Some of them came ready for a knock-down, drag-out, expecting others to sound off critically after an almost unanimous defeat at the polls last November.

But — as one influential state leader said — the meeting solidified the state GOP hierarchy more than it has been since '32.

The huddle was for the state Republican executive and finance committees. They agreed unanimously that:

1. A permanent state office will be set up to strengthen the party's grassroots and prepare for an onslaught in '62 and '64.

2. Jack Weaver, campaign chairman for gubernatorial candidate Harold Neely, will be permanent executive secretary, succeeding Eugene Scott of Beckley, who died unexpectedly of a heart attack last Jan. 7.

3. William E. Blake, former state adjutant general, will act as the state party's public relations officer and at the same time provide liaison with the Legislature.

4. The party treasury will get back in the black as quickly as possible.

The state GOP is in debt about $15,000. But those in the saddle expect this deficit to be wiped out in as little as three months.

Weaver, a 37-year-old former railroad and restaurateur, said he planned to visit every county in the state within the next two or three months to help solidify the county organizations with the state movement.

He plans to begin first in the Northern Panhandle and work towards the south and east.

Cypryla Hit In Exchange With Police

Akron Man Sought Since Youngstown Shooting Last Week

MASSILLON, Ohio (AP) — Wounded in the left leg in an exchange of pistol shots with police, Frank Cypryla, 32, of Akron, was captured early today outside a farmhouse two miles south of here.

Cypryla had been the object of an intensive search since last Wednesday when he disarmed an FBI agent, fired three shots and fled from police at an apartment in Youngstown. He is wanted for questioning in a $135,000 robbery at a bank in Boardman last month and in the burglary of a doctor's office in Akron last Aug. 21.

After treatment of a wound in his left calf, Cypryla was taken to Summit County jail in Akron for questioning by detectives.

A Stark County sheriff's deputy, Leo Kelley, fired the shot that preceded Cypryla's capture, Edward F. Hargett, agent-in-charge of the Cleveland FBI office, said.

Moving quickly on information received about 2 a.m., nearly a dozen men from the FBI, Akron police and the Stark County sheriff's office surrounded a big farm house on Pigeon Run Road south of here.

There were eight children and two pregnant women in the two-family home, so officers could not use tear gas to flush Cypryla from the second-floor apartment where he was hiding, Hargett said. Two men entered the place and went to the fugitive's second-floor hide-out.

Although it was about 4 a.m., Cypryla was not taken by surprise. He had his hat and coat on when detective T. D. Williams of Akron and Andrew Ondo, Stark County deputy, reached the apartment door. They saw him flee down an outside stairway.

Deputy Kelley was guarding that stairway from behind a tree and exchanged shots with Cypryla. Hargett said Cypryla fired three times then hurled his gun into eight-inch deep snow as he dashed across a cornfield.

A few minutes later, following tracks in the snow, Williams and Akron detective Frank Davis found Cypryla in the garage of a house nearby trying to start an automobile. Williams poked a sub-machine gun through the garage window and aimed it at Cypryla, while Davis went inside and shoved his pistol into the face of the fugitive, who had turned on the car lights and was turning over the starter on the cold engine.

Thomas Skarpusis, 34, who occupied the apartment with his wife and four children, was held by Canton police for questioning, Hargett said.

Crew Begins Repairs On Broken Water Line

Working in sub-freezing temperatures, a water department crew began excavating a broken 8-inch water main on the River Rd. this morning.

Donald T. Duke, water department superintendent, said repairs probably will not be completed until Tuesday on the line, which serves some 12 families.

The break was discovered Saturday morning and a crew installed a temporary spigot on a fire hydrant to provide water to the homes. Because the line is buried some 15 feet beneath the surface, a clamshell power shovel is being used for the excavation. It is the second time in less than a month that a break has occurred in the main, one of the oldest in the system.

Belgian Strike Ends

LIEGE, Belgium (AP) — The last strikers against the Belgian government's austerity program went back to work today. Socialist leaders of the walkout announced they would continue their fight in other ways against the austerity bill, which calls for higher taxes and reduction in some unemployment benefits.

City Burglary Charges Face Arrested Pair

Wheeling Police Nab 2 Youths In Attempt At Tavern Entering

Two youths arrested early Sunday in an attempted burglary at a Wheeling tavern have confessed to breaking and entering cases Wednesday night at a restaurant on the Diamond and a Walnut St. auto supply store, East Liverpool police were advised.

Wheeling police identified the suspects as Charles Roy Richards, 19, of West Liberty, W. Va., and a 17-year-old companion from Cleveland. The two were taken into custody at 3:20 a. m. yesterday in the attempted tavern burglary, Wheeling officers said.

Police said the two admitted a burglary at Ann's Restaurant on the Diamond, in which $25 in change was taken from a cash register, and an entering of the Goodyear Service Store on Walnut St. in which the loot included 5 transistor radios, an electric razor and coins from two rifled vending machines.

In addition, an unsuccessful attempt was made to force open the safe in the Goodyear store by hammering at the combination, the handle and the hinges.

At Wheeling, the two are charged with an attempt to break into DiBernard's Restaurant by smashing a pane of glass in the front door.

Wheeling police received a telephone call from a passerby that someone was attempting to break into the restaurant. Detectives C. A. Jebbia and Joseph Noll, investigating, found the glass in the front door had been broken, but no entry had been made.

About five minutes later, Ohio Valley General Hospital notified police a young man had come there with a companion for treatment of a cut wrist.

After questioning, Johnson admitted the burglary attempt, Wheeling police said. The pair also admitted breaking into two Wheeling grocery stores and theft of a car in Cleveland. The FBI was notified of the car theft.

Weekend Burglars Hit Plant Of Laundry Firm

East Liverpool police today are investigating a weekend burglary at the Woodbine Laundry & Dry Cleaning Co. plant on W. 4th St. in which two vending machines were forced open and looted of coins and $2.50 in change was taken from a March of Dimes display card.

The burglary was reported at 5 p. m. Sunday by Richard Walker of May St., one of the owners. Entry was gained by knocking a section of glass out of a door on the west side, then reaching through the opening to manipulate the lock, officers said.

After ransacking desks in a search for money, the intruders used a crowbar to pry open a soft drink vending machine and a candy machine, taking money from the coin boxes. The March of Dimes coin container was taken from the service counter.

It was one of a long series of burglary and thievery reports filed with police over the weekend.

Bill McLaughlin, operator of a Dresden Ave. service station, told police Sunday afternoon 9 recapped whitewall tires were stolen from

Cold Weather And Snow Due Again Tonight

More bitter cold, accompanied by snow flurries, is scheduled for the tri-state area again tonight, the Ohio weatherman said.

There will be scattered snow flurries today and the mercury will not climb above 15, the weatherman said. Tonight's low will range from zero to 5 above.

Weekend snow flurries kicked roads throughout the area and made driving hazardous, but the Lisbon barracks of the State Highway Patrol reported it investigated only four minor mishaps.

The weekend low of 2 degrees was recorded at 7 a. m. Sunday, according to Dam 8 at Midland.

The thermometer never got higher than 14 degrees at any time during the weekend of sub-freezing weather, the dam reported.

The high of 14 was recorded at 3 and 4 Sunday afternoon. The thermometer then dropped to 6 degrees at 9 p. m. Sunday.

The Lisbon water works plant reported an overnight low of 7 above, but it was 2 below at the station of Weather Observer Edwin Copeland in Millport.

Winter, a month old and rugged, held an icy grip across much of the eastern half of the nation today after a record cold weekend extending into the Deep South.

No immediate general break in the frigid weather was indicated but some warmer weather appeared on the way for the chilled Gulf states.

Lower temperatures, however, were indicated in Tennessee, the central Mississippi Valley and parts of the central Great Plains.

The cold weather and last week's snow storms and blizzards that swept wide areas have been blamed for at least 70 deaths.

New Filings Include 4 From Wellsville

Three Wellsville Republicans and a Democrat, including two incumbent office - holders, along with a former East Liverpool councilman filed petitions today with the County Election Board.

The filings bring to 31 the total seeking nominations at the May 2 primaries, an abnormally small number, the board said. The filing deadline is Feb. 1 at 4 p. m.

Heading the Wellsville filings is Wayne J. Rose, 1513 Lincoln Ave., who is seeking the GOP nomination for mayor. He announced earlier. Mayor William J. Shoub has announced he will not seek another term.

Charles W. Stewart, 214 Wells Ave., incumbent city treasurer, filed for renomination on the GOP ticket. Stewart, a crew dispatcher for the Pennsylvania Railroad, is a former clerk of Council and is active in the First Christian Church.

Meryle D. Kenney, 1029 Commerce St., who announced last week, filed for the GOP nomination for councilman-at-large.

Clarence T. (Red) Cartwright, incumbent Second Ward councilman, filed for a new term on the Democratic slate.

A. Stanley Kidder, 2112 Michigan Ave., filed for the Republican nomination for councilman-at-large here. A former councilman, Kidder, an employee of the Crucible Steel Co., announced his candidacy several weeks ago.

Unrest Stirs In Red China; Famine Cited

Food Lack Causing Sabotage, According To Peiping Reports

TOKYO (AP) — An announcement from Peiping indicates unrest and sabotage brought on by a drastic shortage of food is bringing new drives against opponents of the Red regime.

A voluminous communique issued after a meeting Jan. 14-18 of the top Chinese command in Peiping referred again and again to the food shortage, which was blamed on the "most severe natural calamities in a century following upon serious natural calamities of 1959."

The Communists reported last month that 150 million acres were hit by these calamities. No figures were listed in the latest report, but it left no doubt about the seriousness of the problem.

The official New China News Agency reported a four-day cold wave in Kwangtung Province, South China, destroyed part of the winter crop, especially sweet potatoes, a staple food of the toiling masses.

The Peiping communique said, the agricultural setback led to a shortage of raw materials for light industry. The leaders ordered that new sources of material along with increased production be achieved to "ensure the supply of the people's daily necessities as far as possible."

"The tasks in 1961 are extraordinarily great and arduous," the communique said, "but the difficulties can be overcome."

The Communists claimed that more than 90 per cent of the population is loyal to the Red regime and is putting up with their "temporary difficulties."

However, it reported "an extremely small number of landlord and bourgeois elements have not yet been sufficiently remolded and are always attempting a comeback."

This element was charged with taking advantage of the difficulties, along with "some shortcoming in the work at the lower levels to carry out sabotaging activities."

The communique added that China had a few minor Communist party officials who "although good-willed and well-intentioned, are inadequate in their ideology and consciousness."

"They lack understanding of the fundamental policies of the party and government," the communique said, reporting a sort of back-to-school movement called rectification.

East End Legion Slates Dimes Drive Collection

American Legion Post 374 will hold its annual "Crock of Dimes" campaign Tuesday as a March of Dimes project, Robert Poynter, chairman, said today.

A group of about 30 workers from the Legion and the auxiliary will solicit motorists for contributions at a roadblock on Pennsylvania Ave. in East End near the former bus garage.

Soliciting will begin at 7 a. m. and may conclude at 5 p. m., depending on the number of dimes received for the crock, Poynter said. All members who care to help in the campaign are to report to the post home, the chairman announced. Mrs. Frances Cusick will have charge of the auxiliary workers. The post collected about $500 from its "Crock of Dimes" project last year.

County Board Returns 2 And Adopts Budget

LISBON — All officers were re-elected and the annual budget totaling $58,719.55 was adopted at the annual reorganization meeting of the Columbiana County Board of Education Saturday at the Courthouse.

The officers are Atty. Donald Elliott of Rogers, president, and Mrs. Elizabeth Strabley of Salineville, vice president. Other members of the board are Ben Weingart of Leetonia R. D. 2, L. Olan Sanor of East Rochester R. D. 1, and Daniel Furey of Hanoverton.

Supt. James L. McBride is clerk. The clerk's bond of $1,000 was continued for the year. The board voted to continue meeting the third Tuesday of each month. Cards and various supplies for the coming year were ordered.

The budget shows an increase of $12,237.19 over last year. The board had a Dec. 31 balance of $1,496.55.

The increase is partly credited to the fact a new psychologist and a secretary were hired during the year and various salary increases were granted.

A breakdown of the budget is as follows:

Elementary consultant, $8,600; high school consultant, $7,850; psychologist, $3,462.50. These salaries include a $600 travel expense. Superintendent, $9,900, including a $600 travel allowance; secretary, $4,200; secretary, $2,400; attendance officer, $2,900; board expenses, $400; communications, $850; postage, $350; office equipment, $800; office supplies, $1,700; printing, $700; repairs to office equipment, $100; teachers' retirement, $3,500; school employees retirement, $998; survey fund, $500; survey, $3,000; miscellaneous expenses, $566.55; expenses to attend board meetings, $400, and testing and guidance, $1,300.

A preliminary report of a survey made of the Southern Local and Franklin Local districts was read. It is from the Educational Service Center of the College of Education at Ohio State University.

The report contained three recommendations. They were that the necessary legal steps be taken by Southern Local to take advantage of an offer of state assistance in providing a new high school.

It was also recommended that Southern Local hire an architect to assist and advise in the selection of a suitable site for the proposed high school and in the presentation of the bond proposal to the voters.

The third recommendation is that following the submitting of the bond levy to the voters, that the County Board take the necessary steps to effect the consolidation of Franklin and Southern Local.

Police Lodges Induct New Officers

New officers of the Fraternal Order of Police Lodge and its civilian affiliate, FOP Associates, were installed at a joint dinner meeting and program Saturday night at the Travelers Hotel.

man Charles E. (Bill) Tice is the retiring FOP president. He was unable to attend.

Patrolman Glenn Hill of Canton, an Ohio FOP trustee, installed the new police lodge officers. Larry Sena of Youngstown, 2nd District Ohio trustee of the FOPA, seated the new associates' officers. Another visiting official was David Cotton of Canton, immediate past president of the Ohio FOPA.

Atty. Brookes discussed "Obligations of Police Officers," contrasting a "cop" and a "police officer." He is chairman of the Police Pension Board.

Guests included Mayor Bert H. Goodballet, Safety-Service Director Lee Copenhaver, Asst. Solicitor Richard J. Clark, Auditor Lawrence Applegate, Court Clerk Wilbur Harmon, and Councilmen Donald Smith, Clifford Cooper, John Kelly and Donald Hancock.

East End Child Struck By Car In City Mishap

An 11-year-old East End girl escaped with minor injuries when she was bumped by an auto on Mulberry St. near Locust St. Saturday at 5:10 p.m., police reported.

Connie Smith, 513 Mulberry St., was treated at a physician's office for bruises of the left hip after darting into the path of a 1955 two-door sedan operated by Mrs. Thelma L. Calhoun, 29, of 852 St. George St., officers said.

Mrs. Calhoun said the girl ran from between two parked autos into the path of her car, which was moving south on Mulberry St. The girl told officers she was on her way to a nearby store and didn't see the Calhoun auto.

Four other weekend mishaps were reported.

A hit-skip collision on W. 2nd St. Saturday night damaged parked cars owned by Doris Wells, 146 W. 2nd St., and Elmer Schell, 144 W. 2nd St., police said.

Police said the two cars were struck by an unknown vehicle between 8:30 and 11:30 p.m. Saturday. There was damage to the left side of the Wells car and the left door of the Schell auto.

Robert B. Skinner, 22, of 759 Sophia St., escaped unhurt when his car struck guard rails on Lisbon St. Sunday at 8:10 p.m.

Skinner told police he was northbound about 25 miles an hour and his steering gear locked as he started to round a turn, causing his car to hit the guard rails.

A 1950 sedan driven by Edwin D. Keddie, 42, of 829 Orchard Grove Ave., skidded out of control on ice on the Pennsylvania Ave. "Hill Rd." at 2:58 a.m. Sunday and crashed into a guard rail, damaging 7 posts, officers said. The auto was a total loss, police said.

A collision at W. 9th and Chestnut Sts. at 5:11 p.m. Saturday damaged a 1960 sedan driven by Arley D. Ensinger, 62, of 1216 St. George St. and a 1956 station wagon operated by Ralph C. Anderson, 29, of 221 Center St., officers said.

Ensinger told police he was halted for a traffic light when his car was hit from the rear by Anderson's. Anderson told police he attempted to swerve onto the sidewalk to avoid a collision when his car hit an icy patch of pavement and began to skid toward Ensinger's.

Deputies listed $200 damage to Davis's vehicle and $300 to Simons' 1956 model.

A second mishap at 6:15 p.m. on Lawrenceville Rd., involved cars driven by William Durbin, 17, of 219 E. 3rd St., East Liverpool, and William Hillyard, 35, of Chester R. D. 1.

Deputies said Hillyard was driving east in his 1957 car and slid on ice into Durbin's 1949 model. There were no injuries, deputies added. They listed about $75 damage to each vehicle.

No Formula For Dignity

Among the sour notes in the Great Transition on the Potomac, none is sorer than the lament of the mechanists.

Do not confuse "mechanists" with "mechanics." Mechanists do not have to apologize for themselves. Mechanists do.

Mechanists think life operates like machinery; that everything can be predetermined by formula and thus will proceed without a hitch.

The Eisenhower administration could have done worse, admit the mechanists, but their objection is that it didn't do better. This was because it made the mistake of depending on principles, ethics and human relations, instead of on mechanistic formulas for stimulating American society, they say.

Instead of striving for an index of growth that would have been satisfactory for mechanistic economists, they complain, it settled for something less. Whatever progress was registered during its eight years was the result of counting on people to do their best, instead of counting on formulists to do their best. There was woeful disregard of people who have been telling everybody for the last 30 years how to manage the economy the way a teamster manages a horse. The mechanists are angry about this.

THIS IS a sour note in Washington.

It remains to be seen how the economic managers intend to assert their mechanistic philosophy now and what they will have to show for it at the end of a few years. But while waiting for them to demonstrate what never before has been demonstrated about their ideas, not even in Russia, where the ideas are called "economic determinism" and "Marxist materialism," there are these things to consider:

1. Everybody is admiring the smoothness and efficiency of the transition from the Eisenhower administration to the Kennedy administration. This reflects the spirit of the government during the last eight years, which has called for respecting the rights of others and giving opponents the benefit of a doubt. When Mr. Eisenhower took over the government from Harry Truman, the transition was made in an atmosphere of churchiness and the county provincialism that is one of Mr. Truman's least attractive traits.

2. Nobody is looking forward to a sudden change of atmosphere in Washington or in the federal government, for the plain reason there is no breath of scandal to be dispelled—no "mess" to clean up. The government has been in conscientious hands. There has been no friction between its component parts. Everything is being turned over in good working order.

3. President Eisenhower could not keep back tears when he met with his Cabinet the last time. In every part of the nation Americans are sad because this fine man who withstood the stresses of the presidency after proving himself in war is passing from the scene.

IF DWIGHT EISENHOWER lacked something he lacked nothing in loyalty, courtesy, fairness, humility and good will. He restored faith in leadership. He and Mrs. Eisenhower brought to their symbolic position as the First Couple of the Land a dignity that lifted the souls of millions. Dwight Eisenhower is known and loved the world over.

The mechanists who are being grim and tight-lipped about the things they say should have been done the last eight years have no formulas for things like dignity and love. They actually believe men live by bread alone—with the guaranteed analysis printed on the wrapper.

There Will Be A Kennedy Touch

To this day, Winston Churchill salutes admirers with his famous V for Victory sign. Dwight Eisenhower will greet crowds as long as he can lift his arms with that famous two-arm salute.

All men in high public position develop behavior trademarks along with the characteristics that distinguish them from others who are doing the same job. Two of John F. Kennedy's probably characteristics in the presidency are emerging.

His behavior trademark will be an air of shyness dispelled by a friendly grin that belies the shyness. And the characteristic likely to distinguish him from others doing public work seems likely to be thoroughness of preparation.

The presidency from now on is probably going to have the benefit for the first time of completely professional handling. Mr. Kennedy has been preparing himself for the job systematically. It is obvious that everything which could be planned in advance was planned and that the planning has been followed. It is apparent that this is the Kennedy method.

He is a professional political careerist. Dwight Eisenhower was not a political careerist. Harry Truman was, but not in the sense that Mr. Kennedy is. Franklin Roosevelt was a careerist, it can be agreed, but it never could be agreed that he had a professional touch in administration.

Plugging A Legal Loophole

Laws generally are written with the best of intentions to accomplish specific purposes, but sometimes experience with them reveals loopholes which never were intended.

One statute in that category now provides that an employer sometimes must pay unemployment compensation to an employee who quit to take a better job. Carroll County's state representative, Robert Longworth, is trying to plug up that loophole with a bill he introduced last week in the General Assembly.

Unemployment compensation was instituted to take financial care of an employee who lost his job through no fault of his own. No employee is supposed to collect from an employer if he quits his job or is fired for good cause. He can collect only if he is laid off or fired without proper cause.

Under the law as it now stands, however, hundreds of employers are being forced to pay employees who quit. It happens this way:

Employee John Doe has worked for Company A long enough to have built up full employment compensation rights. He is doing satisfactory work. Company A needs him and wants him to stay on the job. But Mr. Doe learns that Company B has an opening which he thinks is better. He resigns from Company A to go with Company B. A few weeks later, Company B lays him off. Company A in the meantime has replaced him and Mr. Doe is unemployed.

But it is not Company B that has to pay his unemployment compensation. He has not been with it long enough. It is Company A that has to pay—despite the fact that Company A wishes Mr. Doe never had quit in the first place.

This is not fair to an employer with a good record of employment, and Rep. Longworth is trying to get it corrected. He deserves support.

Just A Bit Out Of Place

Tax Reform Receives A Push

By Hobart Rowen

President Kennedy and Treasury Secretary Dillon appear to be serious about pushing tax reform this year. Dillon, during his confirmation hearings, promised to produce a set of recommendations by April.

This could mean completion of legislation during this session of Congress, with the effective date next January—or even earlier if the powers-that-be desire.

Such a prospect makes it worthwhile to take another look at "tax reform," which is a rather ambiguous phrase that covers its real meaning.

Tax reform is a catch-all proposition which implies lower taxes for many people—but higher taxes for the select few who have enjoyed special tax "havens" or privileges.

In recent years, there has been but little action. In 1954, there was a reshuffling of the tax code but this was more a streamlining of what was on the books than a basic overhaul of the structure.

Then, in November, 1959, Wilbur Mills, chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee held extensive hearings pitched toward "a reduction in tax rates without sacrificing revenues" by plugging loopholes, and in general, making the tax laws fair.

THE MILLS COMMITTEE contributed a great deal to the literature of the subject of publishing three volumes containing 2,382 pages of expert analysis of various tax problems and viewpoints.

But Mills, who is devoted to tax reform, had to give it up because there was little effective political pressure behind it.

The Eisenhower administration gave lip service to tax reform but didn't choose to tussle with the many knotty problems involved in loophole plugging.

Now, the Kennedy administration is breathing some fresh life into the idea. A task force report by Prof. Stanley S. Surrey of the Harvard Law School sketched out the need for some urgent reforms. Moreover, Kennedy's chief economist, Walter W. Heller, has written and talked extensively over the years for just such a program.

Even more significant, however, is Dillon's intention to back tax reforms.

Informed observers doubt whether Dillon or the administration will want to go all the way with Surrey's ideas.

The Harvard professor's task force report has not been published but his views haven't changed since 1959, when he wrote the key article for the 3-volume Mills committee compendium.

At that time, he suggested—among other things—eliminating the exemption now given interest on state and local bonds, taxing Social Security payments and making the capital gains tax more restrictive.

There is nothing to indicate that Dillon's thinking has yet gone that far.

Down Through The Years

From The Review Files

THIRTY YEARS AGO — Marking the third time the place had been looted since September of 1930, burglars broke into the Scott Lumber Company's office at 10th and Lisbon Sts., Wellsville, battered open a small safe and escaped with $160.

Debaters from Jackson Township High School in Stark County were defeated by East Liverpool High School.

TWENTY YEARS AGO — Five active cases of tuberculosis were discovered during a chest clinic for 53 East Liverpool and Wellsville residents.

HE IS ON RECORD as favoring a tightening up on expense account allowances (and more funds for internal revenue agents), and for abandonment of the dividend credit (which—Democrats have long argued—gives too much of a break to taxpayers in the upper brackets).

It is also reasonable to assume that a Kennedy-Dillon tax reform program would include an attempt to tax interest and dividends at their source, and provision of some new device to stimulate business investment through more favorable write-off language.

If enough tax loopholes are plugged, then the top confiscatory rates can be trimmed back to about 65 per cent and lower bracket rates can be reduced.

Politicians agree that eventually, it will be difficult to resist wholesale tax reform. In time, it will step into the public consciousness that the fewer the tax "havens" for the specially privileged, the lower-tax rates themselves could be.

A Familiar Refrain

By Raymond Moley

In a recent issue of the AFL-CIO News a speech by Guy Nunn is reported in which he bitterly complains about an alleged monopoly of the sources of information by interests opposed to labor and its political programs and ideas.

It is the familiar refrain after a national election—that there is a "one-party" press committed to opposition to the "liberal" programs of the political unions and favoring the Republican ticket in national elections.

In the light of the record, Nunn should be the last person to make such a complaint. He is the voice of Walter Reuther over the airwaves in Michigan. His title is director of the United Auto Workers Radio-Television Department.

For some years he has been a twice-daily commentator on the "news" for that agency, reaching substantially the entire population of the state. His "news" is heavily weighted with partisan and ex-parte propaganda.

No Michigan newspaper, nor all the newspapers there combined, can rival the continuous barrage of his loaded news but he is not satisfied with this power. He describes the labor unions as the helpless victim of a news monopoly.

Nunn's first complaint in his speech is about the death of the Detroit Times. He blames this on the newspaper tycoons. It was, he says, "an act of almost calculated cruelty."

NO ONE will deny that the death of a metropolitan newspaper is a tragic matter. It is a cruel blow to many employees. But it is not "calculated" to hurt anyone.

The tremendous costs of running a newspaper—costs largely attributable to higher wages for employees brought about the power of the unions—makes it increasingly difficult to maintain morning competition in the field.

What we have witnessed in the past half century is a reduction in the number of newspapers because of inexorable economic conditions, just as there has been concentration in many other lines of business.

As was abundantly shown in the last presidential campaign, there was no "monopoly" of news advantages for the Republican ticket in the nation's press.

While editorial support of the daily newspapers themselves generally leaned to Nixon-Lodge, there certainly was no disadvantage to Kennedy-Johnson in the news. More than half of the signed columnists and commentators leaned toward the Kennedy-Johnson side.

I would estimate that considerably more than 60 per cent of the writers of the news hoped for a Kennedy victory and indicated that preference in their coverage.

All three national news magazines predicted the election of Kennedy well before the election on the basis of reports from the working press in the various states. And in its effect that was a big boost to the Kennedy chances. Even then, the reports on states were in detail quite full of errors.

A considerable part of the Washington press corps preferred Kennedy to Nixon, and that helped.

WE HAVE only to look back on the Roosevelt regime, during which the President complained bitterly and continuously about the predominance of editorial opposition to him. But the working press, especially those participating in his press conferences, fell under the spell of his personality.

Despite these advantages, Nunn argues for more strength in the labor press—in which, incidentally, there is no deviation from the aims of labor in the slated news. To give space and employment to an opposition voice there is as unthinkable as the presence of an Armour or Swift advertisement in a vegetarian journal.

Nunn suggests that to counteract the "antilabor monopoly" there should be assessed against every union member the sum of $10 a year, as a "modest and workable" start in labor communication.

There is no compulsion on the part of any citizen to patronize the "capitalistic" newspapers. But the labor papers, of which there are many with large circulations, are supported by dues-paying members, regardless of their personal politics or preferences.

Considering the successes of the political agencies of the unions in electing members of Congress, Nunn's complaint comes with poor grace.

The War Is On!

Budget Battle Rages At Columbus

COLUMBUS

The war is on.

After a couple of weeks of peace talk about working together for the benefit of all Ohioans, the Republican leadership of the 104th General Assembly and Democratic Gov. Michael V. DiSalle have taken their positions on opposite sides of the battle line.

The line, of course, is the biennial budget.

Boiled down to basic elements, the two positions are:

The Republicans say they were returned to power in the Legislature because the voters have had enough tax increases for awhile and they want the pursestrings tightened.

DiSalle and his Democratic supporters say the GOP misrepresents the facts on taxes and spending and consequently are abusing the will of the people.

Positions Differ

Those are the political positions. Expressed in terms of the budget bill, the respective stands go something like this:

The Republicans imply the governor has proved their campaign arguments by submitting a recommended spending plan that is $150 million out of balance.

DiSalle says most of the increased spending is the result of "built-in" raises inherent in the programs as established by the Assembly. He adds that the actual improvements he recommends are really modest and confined to programs which virtually everyone wants to see advanced.

They include $30 million for education; $9.4 million for the six state universities; $17.7 million for mental hygiene and juvenile correction; $8.5 million for welfare, practically all of it for aid to dependent children; $2.9 million to hire more highway patrolmen to reduce the slaughter on Ohio's roads, and $7.1 million for capital improvements.

Capital Bonds Gone

He adds that the last figure is less than the state has spent in this category for several years, but more than double the amount taken from general funds. That is because the $150 million bond issue passed in 1955 has been used up, so from here on capital improvements will have to come out of current funds.

The Republicans do not deny the desirability of effecting some, most or all of these improvements, but they resent what they call the governor's attempt to bludgeon them into more tax increases.

They doubt that the picture is quite as dismal as he paints it, and they believe places can be found to trim back expenses to provide more working cash within the present tax framework.

As usual in such partisan governmental disputes, both sides have arguments in their favor. Also customary in the fact that there are complications which must be added to the fundamentals of the argument.

Local Government Cash

One of these is the need for more money for local governments. Should it come from the state or should the state merely give the local governments more authority to provide it for themselves?

Another is whether the state's own taxing sources should be altered and, if so, how? The recessions of recent years have emphasized the hazards of raising money primarily through excise-type taxes, which are extremely sensitive to fluctuations in the general economy.

Viewpoints on issues like those do not follow strict party lines. Neither do they necessarily break themselves down into two opposing views.

DiSalle and House Speaker Roger Cloud, R-Logan, for instance, agree in principle that local governments should have more responsibility for raising their own money, but they might disagree to doomsday on how and to what degree it ought to be granted.

What's the Solution?

How will the budget bill conflict be resolved?

Some GOP spokesmen have been saying the governor failed to comply with the law because his measure does not balance out—that he should have offered legislation to raise the money needed to make it balance.

The governor says he has fulfilled his responsibility of telling the legislators what the situation is and cites the constitutional provision that the Assembly raise whatever revenues are necessary to meet the expenses of the next two years.

One interesting aspect of this controversy is that it is almost completely reversed from the one two years ago.

Then DiSalle had the majority votes on his side, and he offered a number of proposals to raise the revenue to meet the expenses he deemed necessary.

GOP Criticizes Move

The GOP then raised an outcry against what it called his usurpation of the Legislature's prerogative to determine how much money was needed and how it should be raised.

Old timers around the Statehouse watch the budget maneuvering calmly, declaring it always has been thus. It's just a part of the legislative process, a manifestation of the very real checks and balances written into the American approach to democracy.

Somehow, they say, after the tumult and the shouting, the state government always has wound up with a budget that was balanced in one way or another. And it will this time, too.

Try to take politics out of the process and you not only remove half the fun, you threaten to collapse the whole system, because government without politics is no government at all.

Presidential Bibles

By Vylla Poe Wilson

John F. Kennedy added another Bible to the ones treasured in the history of the United States when he placed his hand on the Kennedy family Bible to take the oath of office as President of the United States. The Bible is a Douai translation.

One of our nation's most precious possessions, the Bible on which George Washington took the oath of office as first President of the United States in New York City April 30, 1789, was used by Dwight D. Eisenhower for his first inaugural ceremony. (The Bible is the sacred trust of St. John's Masonic Lodge, in New York City. It has been brought to Washington three times under armed guard—for the dedication of the Washington Monument in 1885 and for the inauguration of Warren G. Harding and Eisenhower.)

Eisenhower also used the Bible given him by his mother when he entered West Point at both his first and second inaugurations.

Harry S. Truman placed his hand on the page containing the Ten Commandments (Exodus 20:3-17) in his mother's Bible when he was inaugurated for a second term. Truman used a closed Bible from the White House library when he was sworn in as President after the death of Franklin D. Roosevelt.

THE ROOSEVELT family Bible—printed in Dutch in Holland in 1680—was open at I Corinthians 13 beginning with "Though I speak with the tongues of men and of angels, and have not charity, I am become as sounding brass, or a tinkling cymbal. . . ." at all four inaugurations of Franklin D. Roosevelt.

Roosevelt took personal charge of the Bible in transit to the inaugural scene. He arranged a piece of cellophane across the page with an opening for his hand when he took the oath. It was a happy precaution. At his second inauguration the rain ran down his upraised arm and splattered on the page.

A special place in history must be accorded the family Bible of Calvin Coolidge. It was used when he was sworn in as president by his father, John Calvin Coolidge, justice of the peace in a Vermont farm house after the death of Warren G. Harding.

The Bible had been well read and marked by Coolidge's late mother, Victoria Josephine Coolidge.

Coolidge solemnly turned the pages to St. John 1:1 beginning with the words, "In the beginning was the word and the word was with God, and the word was God. . . ." He used this Bible and the same passage for his inauguration for a second term.

"Oh take not the word of thy truth out of my mouth, for my hope is in thy judgments." "My hands also will lift up unto thy commandments, which I have loved, and my study shall be in thy statutes."

THESE VERSES from Psalm 119 were selected by the first Mrs. Wilson from her Bible for use at the first inauguration of Woodrow Wilson, March 4, 1913.

Wilson also used the small Bible for his second inauguration. He spread his hand on Psalm 46; considered most appropriate in those stressful days. It reads: "God is our hope and strength, a very present help in trouble."

Eliza Ballou Garfield, widowed mother of James A. Garfield, watched her son take the oath of office on the Bible she had presented to him when he was a small lad, with his finger on her favorite verse: "The king's heart is in the hand of the lord, he turneth it whithersoever he will." (Proverbs 21:1.)

Grover Cleveland, scion of five generations of clergymen, was sworn in as President of the United States on the Bible presented to him by his mother Anne Neale Cleveland when he taught his first Sunday School class.

It is regrettable that all the Bibles used by all the presidents for the presidential oath are not written in historical records.

A syndicate of assassins stalks this land, stilling 1,300 human hearts each day, almost one a minute.

This deadly syndicate causes heart attacks, the greatest single killer of Americans. It also causes 500 fatal strokes a day, thus accounting for 40 per cent of all American deaths.

The syndicate has a name—atherosclerosis, a process in which vital arteries become narrowed or clogged.

Few if any doctors think there is only one cause of atherosclerosis. Rather, they suspect a syndicate of causes.

AND EXPERT suspicions are pointing, among other things, to two of the most alluring aspects of American life—our rich diet and our soft living.

They suspect many men and women are eating and lazing their way into the hands of the assassins.

They think—but cannot yet prove—that some changes in diet and exercise habits might greatly reduce the risk of heart attack. Part of their advice is: "Stop gorging and start moving."

Very significantly, many heart specialists and general physicians are taking their own advice. It's less and less a case of a chubby physician, for example, telling his patients they should reduce.

The alluring diet assassin involves as prime suspects too many calories, too much of certain fats in our food, obesity, and cholesterol in the bloodstream.

Indeed, says one researcher, Soviet doctors are becoming worried that heart attacks will soar in the Soviet Union when and if Premier Khrushchev makes good his boast of matching America in rich and plentiful food for all.

It's far easier to ride than to walk; to watch than to do.

This soft living cloaks another assassin, many authorities think.

THEY POINT to acres of excess American weight, flabby muscles, pot-bellies, spreading rear, creeping obesity after age 25.

They worry over habits of too little exercise, of activity limited at days end to twiddling TV dials, or pressing power brakes on cars.

Calories can be spent or saved like money, they stress. Save too much, and you grow fat. Spend some extra calories each day in movement, and the piggy bank of excess weight can grow slimmer.

Not all heart authorities, be it clear, agree that diet and inactivity are important assassins. Nor can they promise that changes would disarm them.

But many agree moderate changes might do much good, and cannot do harm, particularly for middle-aged men now dying of heart attacks at an appalling rate.

They'd like to see young emigrants start these changes early, before atherosclerosis—which is a long-term process—snuffs out their lives in their 40's or 50's. Autopsies find that atherosclerosis already has started in the arteries of 60 per cent or more of young men killed in accidents or war.

ALL AUTHORITIES point to other suspected agents in the syndicate.

Heredity: Risk of coronary attacks appears higher if a close relative died prematurely of a heart attack—before age 50 or 60. Heredity cannot be changed. But it can put a man on notice to take special precautions.

Tensions: Medical opinion is divided on the role of tensions and pressures. Humans in every age have lived under tensions, some point out. Others think stress is involved, in part perhaps by making blood tend to clot faster.

High blood pressure: Chances of a coronary are higher if blood pressure is high. Modern drugs often can reduce it.

Smoking: Most statistical studies link excessive cigarette smoking with increased risk of coronaries. Syndicate members can gang up.

Dr. Jeremiah Stamler of Chicago's Board of Health puts it this way:

A man has only one chance in 20 or even 50 of dying of a heart attack before age 65 if he has normal weight, average or low amounts of blood cholesterol, no damage to kidneys, no high blood pressure or diabetes, is not a heavy cigarette smoker and is moderately active.

But his chance of escaping a heart attack in middle age is only one out of two if he's been tagged by two or three members of the syndicate, such as high blood cholesterol, high blood pressure, or obesity.

THIS ARTICLE concerns only diet and inactivity as suspects in atherosclerosis.

The heart is a powerful and near-tireless muscle, squeezing blood from its chambers to circulate through the body.

The heart muscle itself receives nourishing blood from two pencil-sized arteries the coronary arteries.

Fatty plugs and blood clots forming in these arteries can block the flow, and his starves some of the heart muscle tissue. If the blockage is severe enough, a heart and a human being die.

Cholesterol, a waxy substance, and fatty materials in the blood are known to form part of the artery deposits. Hence the suspicions concerning diet.

But the heart fights for life. It can develop extra, or collateral, little blood vessels to nourish the heart muscle.

Exercise helps a heart develop this ability, and may even reduce the risk that plugs or deposits will form in the first place.

Atherosclerosis, with its toll of the heart and brain, now is called the nation's gravest chronic epidemic.

Whose On 'Ain't'?

'Is' Backers Go To 'Are' As Grammarians 'Groan'

CHICAGO (AP)—"The grammar of the passenger department is deplorably weak," asserted Vice President C. E. Spens of the Burlington Railroad, surveying a sentence for an institutional advertisement.

It began: "For within this tremendous area is produced: two thirds the oats, more than half the corn, more than half the barley, half the wheat..."

"Are produced" is the correct form," declared Spens.

Not so, said P. S. Eustis, passenger traffic manager who had submitted the layout. He quickly produced a University of Chicago opinion—for "is."

Probably got that from the football coach, retorted Spens, and issued an SOS. "Are" is correct, opined Northwestern University.

"Is" it is, said Harvard. "Are" it is, said the Literary Digest.

And so, in 1926, the grammarian battle was joined—to the delight of headline writers everywhere: "Are" vs. "Is" splits five colleges, dictionary and railroad heads," headlined one newspaper.

"Is It 'Are' Or Are It 'Is'?" asked another. And even: "Am he want or would he come? How can it was?"

In all, 22 schools and magazines were queried. The result: 12 votes for "are," 6 for "is," 1 for either and 3 abstentions.

Spens and Eustis and the Literary Digest are dead but the controversy still is not settled.

The Chicago, Burlington & Quincy Railroad recently came across a booklet chronicling the word puzzle and decided to resurvey. The results, released today: 14 for "are," 1 for "is," and 1 for "either." Six didn't answer.

The Universities of Chicago, Pennsylvania, Princeton, Harvard and Temple switched their "is" votes to "are." None reversed from "are" to "is," but Boston University maintained its earlier "is" vote, declaring, "technically speaking, any grammarian would say 'is' is the correct vote."

Eustis and Spens, the original combatants, settled their argument with a flip of the coin. It turned up "is."

But Holy Cross in Worcester, Mass., which in the resurvey amended its original "are" to "either," suggested another solution: rewrite the sentence.

Death Takes Man Who Was 'Dead'

MILWAUKEE (AP)—A 78-year-old man, who previously had been declared dead and then found to be alive when taken to the Milwaukee County morgue, died Sunday.

County General Hospital attendants said that Leo Hoppel of Milwaukee did not regain consciousness after he had been taken there from the morgue Friday night. The cause of death was listed as a heart condition.

Authorities said Hoppel had been under treatment for throat cancer. They speculated that his heart may have been restarted in a bump in an ambulance ride to the morgue.

Italian Farmers Riot Against Beef Imports

MILAN, Italy (AP)—Two thousand irate dairy farmers clashed with riot police in downtown Milan today in a new outbreak of a battle against foreign beef and butter. Six farmers were arrested.

The farmers massed in front of the Palazzo Serbelloni where Foreign Trade Minister Mario Martinelli, was conferring with city authorities.

The farmers attacked police when they were told they could not see the minister to present their protests that imports of foreign beef and butter were undermining prices for local products.

provides privacy... two different kinds of resilient floor tiles... a device that takes the minerals out of tap water... and a lightweight soldering gun for the home workshop.

The new door has a hollow core and is faced with reinforced laminated plastic.

It is said to have resistance to abrasion and impact similar to that found in kitchen tables and counter tops made with the same type of plastic.

However, the laminated plastic in this case is translucent, keeping out cold and rain but not sunlight. The doors are available in clear and combinations of colors. They can be washed with a damp cloth.

A FLOOR tile that will compete with asphalt tile in price, yet be resistant to grease, oil and mineral spirits, has been introduced for use in homes as well as commercial buildings.

Ordinary asphalt tile can be marred by solvents and other types of liquids. The manufacturer of this new tile says that a special binding material prevents it from being stained by most liquid products found in the home. It also has a high resistance to alkali, which means that, like regular asphalt tile, it can be installed on concrete below grade.

Another resilient tile manufacturer has come out with a flooring that combines the beauty of natural cork with the practicability of vinyl.

The cork has a special finish that supplies a smooth surface, preventing accumulation of dirt and grease and making it easy to clean. The tiles come in separate packages of light, medium and dark, each with its own range of shading.

A DEVICE inserted in a jar or bottle and placed under a cold water faucet is said to produce soft de-ionized water.

It is this type of de-mineralized water that produces better results in steam irons, vaporizers, baby bottle sterilizers, and batteries, photo-developing solutions, tropical fish aquariums and so on.

A soldering gun that weighs but one and three-quarter pounds is now on the market. It is a transformer-type model using 1.3 amperes, 115 volt AC.

A pre-focused spotlight is built into the housing for adequate illumination of the working area. Its small size makes it especially suitable for the home handyman, although the manufacturer believes it will be widely used by radio and laboratory technicians.

How Can I?

By ANNE ASHLEY

Q. How can I remove oil spots from concrete floors?

A. These will often yield simply to cleaning fluid. If the spots are old, however, mix up a paste of cleaning fluid and fuller's earth, spread this on the spots, and wait until it is completely dry before sweeping it off with a broom.

Q. How can I make a new ironing board cover smooth and tight, when fastening it on?

A. Wet the cloth immediately before tacking it to the board, and it will be smooth and tight. This is caused by its drying gradually.

Q. How can I remove the coating of soap which sometimes forms on the inside of the wash machine?

A. Rub thoroughly, but gently, with a very fine grade of steel wool.

Navy Launches Probe In Crash That Killed 9

HONOLULU (AP)—Navy investigators tried to learn today why a huge Constellation crashed in flames Sunday, taking nine lives on Midway Island.

Sixteen members of the 22-man crew of the 70-ton radar picket plane survived with minor injuries.

Three members of a crash crew died when the blazing aircraft slammed into their truck Sunday at 2:04 a.m.

A Barber's Point Naval Air Station spokesman said the Hawaii-based plane touched down, swerved suddenly, flipped on its back and burst into flames as it smashed into the truck.

Boy, 14, Admits Killing California Woman, 58

SANTA CLARA, Calif. (AP) — Police said husky Robert Sichel, 14, admitted Sunday night that he killed a middle-aged neighbor woman with a bayonet. They were still trying to determine his motive today.

Police Capt. Mal Sylvia said Sichel, after intensive questioning, admitted stabbing Marie Rozas, 58, and then trying to burn her corpse.

Sylvia said Sichel was arrested after a neighbor reported seeing him leave Mrs. Rozas' yard just before the fire that burned her body was discovered.

No absolutely accurate, reliable map of the world has as yet been made, and none is yet possible—for the very good reason that there are still vast areas about which very little is known.

Steel Exports Lead Imports

CLEVELAND (AP)—Barring an unforeseen work stoppage, steel exports this year probably will exceed imports by 600,000 tons, the magazine Steel reported today.

The trade publication said final figures for last year probably will show exports of 3.2 million tons and imports of 3.35 million—a foreign trade deficit of only 150,000 tons.

In 1959, imports topped exports by 2.7 million tons, largely because of the 116-day strike that crippled U.S. production, it added.

As automakers push some of their February orders into March, other consumers are taking up part of the slack in steel buying, the magazine said.

"They're coming into the market for bigger tonnages than they've ordered in months—not because they're using steel at a faster rate but because they've carried inventory liquidation as far as they dare," Steel said.

It reported that as small consumers help stabilize demand for sheets and strip, seasonal factors are aiding other products and strengthening the total market for steel.

"In tin plate, for example, demand is swelling because can-makers are building inventories of finished goods," the publication said. "The uptrend is important because tin mill products normally account for more than eight percent of steel industry shipments."

The magazine's composite on No. 1 heavy melting scrap rose 34 cents to $32.17 a ton last week.

Tips For Fixing Window Panes

AP Newsfeatures

Question: In replacing a broken window pane, is it cheaper to have the glass cut to size or to cut it yourself? I always see instructions on how to cut glass, but I remember some years ago buying a pane to fit the opening. Also, what's the best way to get the old, broken glass out of the opening?

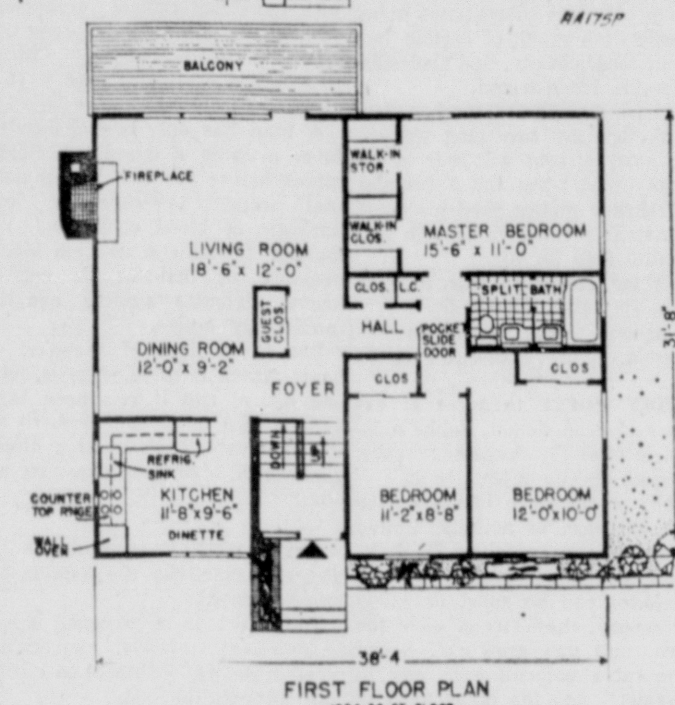

Answer: If you have several glass projects, it is cheaper to cut the glass at home. But first you have to get the knack of doing the cutting, which sometimes means you will spoil a couple of pieces of glass before doing it right.

All things considered, you are much better off to have the glass cut to size at the place where you buy it. Carefully measure the opening into which it will be fitted, then subtract one-eighth of an inch from each measurement. If the opening is 21 by 27, get a piece of glass 20 and seven-eighths by 26 and seven-eighths. This provides a leeway for any contraction of the sash resulting from changing weather conditions. A pair of old gloves should be worn in removing broken pieces of glass. Be sure, also, to take out all of the glazier's points which helped to keep the pane in place.

These points may be used again if in good condition. If not, new ones are inexpensive. They should be spaced about four inches apart. Remember not to drive them all the way in. They are merely sunk deeply enough to hold the glass, after which the putty is applied.

Keep In Trim

By IDA JEAN KAIN

Young Mother Makes Time For Exercise

Enthusiasm is contagious. The success stories of happy reducers renew your hope. You begin to think, "If they can do it, why can't I?" This challenge stimulates you to make the effort to act. Action in turn stirs up interest and there you are—slimming down.

So, let's tune in on a young mother who is having fun whipping into shape.

"When I moved to this part of the country six months ago, I began reading your column. Your advice and the advice of the reducers who wrote in encouraged me to do something about my weight and shape.

"I have always had to watch my weight, but after having three children in three years, I found myself really out of shape. My husband asked my size, and I told him it was 14 or 16. Well, he ordered size 18. That moved me to take action.

"BY CUTTING OUT second helpings at meals and curbing my nibbling between meals, I lost 5 pounds in 11 days. Now I have only 10 more pounds to go.

"Actually I was more out of shape than overweight and dreadfully in need of toning exercises. It is easy for busy young mothers to say they work hard enough to get sufficient exercise, or that they haven't time.

"I have found that ten minutes in the morning, ten in the afternoon with the children in part play, and ten minutes at night with my husband watching the clock so I won't cheat, really have done wonders.

"It is worth foregoing every hunger pang for a cookie or other sweet, and worth every minute of exercise just to hear my husband say, 'You look more terrific every day!' Also with exercise I find I have more energy. My thanks."

Busy young mothers, it is natural to take the attitude that you certainly get exercise enough with all you have to do. But in the course of the day's work, the same muscles are used over and over. And generally these are not the big figure - controlling muscles.

If you will make the effort to do specific calisthenics, you'll have more pep and energy. As with the young woman in today's story, you will not find time to exercise, you have to make the time. Start with this re-conditioner to restore tone to the stretched abdominals.

POSITION: Lying on back on floor, arms stretched up on floor overhead, legs straight down and feet anchored under rung of chair, or heavy furniture.

Action: Come up to sitting position, then, keeping the up-pull through the middle, bend over and touch fingers to toes. Then lower slowly backward to floor, feet still anchored. Repeat three to six times as a starter, depending on your strength. Increase one time every second day until you are up to 15 or 20.

Wood Gutters Require Care

By DOUGLAS TOMEY

Written For Bell Syndicate

There is a certain substantial and high-class look about wood gutters which is entirely lacking in the lighter and smaller metal gutters.

We do not include the heavy, double-gauge copper type with the lead leader-heads, which were a standard ornamental touch on manor-houses when homes were built to last through generations.

The wood gutter is usually twice as wide as the modern metal type and has a symmetrical curved shape that adds a depth of shadow and a most pleasing effect at a roof edge.

It is generally seen in custom-built homes and in development houses of the better type. As might be expected, the wood gutter requires treatment that is different than that given to metal gutters.

Wood gutters hold paint on the exterior well enough, but there is little use in painting the inside. The average wood gutter will hold moisture for a long time. And, being in shadow, the paint covering the interior deteriorates and scales off rapidly.

It is not unusual to examine the inside surface of a wood gutter that has been painted just a year before and find it completely devoid of protective paint.

The proper treatment of a wood gutter consists of the following. The inside should be swept clean of any accumulation of dust, paint-scale and other debris after several dry days. Next a flowing coat of boiled linseed oil should be swabbed over the surface. This will sink in very rapidly, but should be allowed to be absorbed into the wood until it has completely disappeared.

A second treatment should follow as soon as the wood appears dry. This oil-soaking will usually preserve the wood for some four or five years and prevent the gutter from splitting, warping or rotting.

Student Couple Choose Death Over Separation

RICHMOND, Mich. (AP)—"It was our choice and we did it together," wrote Linda Mahley, 15, who was found shot to death Saturday alongside the body of her sweetheart.

State police said the blonde cheerleader and basketball star James C. Erhart, 16, apparently died together rather than live apart.

Their bodies were found sprawled across a bed in Linda's bedroom.

Each had been shot in the chest with a .32-caliber pistol belonging to Linda's father, a prominent Richmond attorney, police said.

Detective Laurence N. Hoffman said the two Richmond High School students had been going steady for two years. The boy was to go to Amsterdam in June as an exchange student under a State Department program.

Queen's Tiger Hunt Hit By Friends Of Animals

JAIPUR, India (AP) — Queen Elizabeth II and her husband Prince Philip were to go 12 miles into the jungle today on a tiger hunt that has some animal lovers of Europe and Asia up in arms.

The royal couple are spending two days at the hunting lodge of the Maharaja of Jaipur without the usual entourage of newsmen and curious public. The maharaja declared the hunt area off limits to give the queen privacy and to avoid frightening away the tigers.

Several animal welfare groups in India and Britain strenuously objected to the queen participating in the hunt. Nine thousand New Delhi students threatened a hunger strike if the queen "encourages" tiger hunting.

African Students Say Soviet Offers More Aid

CINCINNATI (AP)—Two African students at Ohio's Central State College say they believe Africans have more bonds with the United States but turn to Russia for help because the West offers none.

Otakpa Unoogwa of Nigeria and Ocho'g Okelo of Kenya told a Unitarian Church group Sunday night many Africans have lost faith in the United Nations. Okelo said, "We see too that independence without economic or military power is empty and holds no real meaning."

Miracle Paints Increase

NEW YORK — Today's odorless wall paints that dry in half an hour and floor enamels that can be walked on in a short time are a far cry from the slow-drying, smelly paints of your childhood.

And these are but two of the new products of paint technology that are available on your dealer's shelf. In fact, some 90 per cent of the paints sold today did not exist before World War II and about 80 per cent of them have been introduced only in the last few years.

And today's quality paints are easier to apply, last longer, hide better and retain their color brilliance longer than anyone would have imagined possible 20 years ago.

But to benefit fully from the technological advances of the paint industry, be sure that you purchase quality paints made of high grade materials. Only these can give you the service you expect. Avoid bargain - priced paints that are always on "sale" and which are priced so low that you "can't believe it." You can't!

MOST FAMILIAR of the new paints are the water-thinned latexes, which, in addition to being odorless and drying quickly, also show no lap marks, can be touched up months later without showing and can be washed with impunity after they have cured. Painting tools, as well as spills and spatters, can be cleaned easily with water immediately after use.

Introduced originally only as flat wall paints, latexes are now available as semi-gloss finishes, as floor and deck enamels, as exterior masonry paint and, most recently, as exterior house paint.

Properly applied, the last type is said to give a greater degree of blister resistance than any other exterior paint and to have better color brilliance and lasting power.

Alkyd resin paints, enamels and varnishes are the delight of the do-it-yourselfer and professional alike. They are fast drying (but not as fast as latex), have a low odor, are extremely durable, have good color and color retention, withstand repeated scrubbing and have excellent hiding power.

Originally used only for gloss and semi-gloss enamels, alkyd resins are today used as a base for flat wall paints, for house paints alone or in combination with linseed oil, and for floor enamels.

Many house paints today are self-cleaning in that they wear away by chalking which is removed by rain, carrying dirt with it. Do not use chalking paints above masonry. There are also special paint formulations which contain an ingredient to prevent the growth of mildew. Another type is resistant to chemical fumes which can discolor ordinary paint in industrial areas.

NO LONGER is "polka dot" paint a joke. Multi-color paints which make it possible to apply two or more colors simultaneously from a single source are increasingly popular.

They produce an effect of one basic color on which appear flecks of several other colors. This variegated pattern does not show dirt readily and can be touched up without the patches showing.

Another relatively new development is the pastel aluminum roof paints which prolong the life of old roofs for many years and may make reroofing unnecessary. The aluminum helps reduce interior temperatures by reflecting the heat of the sun.

Quick-drying varnishes that can be walked on in an hour or a little more are also now in the market. This means that floor refinishing will no longer take rooms out of service for a day or longer. The quick-dry also minimizes the chances of dust spoiling the finish.

Packaging of enamels, varnishes and lacquer in self-spraying pressure cans makes painting easier for small jobs, irregular objects and uneven surfaces. They are not meant for painting large areas.

Just coming on the market are epoxy resin coatings which have amazing adhesive qualities and great resistance to wear and abrasion.

Floors Are Returning As Part Of The Decor

By VIVIAN BROWN
AP Newsfeatures

Floors and walls, areas of the home that have been taken for granted in the past, have come into their own.

Floors are enhanced with brilliant rugs, planters and decorative cushions. Walls lend their space to masses of art and objects that relate to the decor.

But, if you'd take advantage of the new emphasis on floors, be sure that you prepare your floors for the drama, says Patricia Harvey of New York, member of the American Institute of Decorators.

"If your floor needs attention to make it an asset, then go to work with sander, sealer and wax. Many floors could be beautiful if attention were given to refinishing them. The 'old world' look in wood floors, embodying the antique browns and darker shades is the trend now," she points out.

New floors may be prepared more easily, and given a mellow patina with frequent applications of paste wax, she says. This gives concentrated protection and, in time, will give that handsome old finish that may be desired.

"An area rug must have purpose, not used simply as a rug on the floor," Miss Harvey advises. "The area rug on a polished floor should be used to highlight the beauty of the wood and to anchor a furniture group or emphasize the color plan in the room."

Russia Jails 2 Women Friends Of Pasternak

LONDON (AP)—Soviet authorities have finally confirmed persistent reports that they have jailed Olga Ivinskaya, close friend and collaborator of the late Boris Pasternak.

Moscow radio said this weekend that Mrs. Ivinskaya and her daughter, Irina, 23, had been convicted of taking 800,000 rubles—$80,000—in royalties from Pasternak's disputed novel "Dr. Zhivago." The book was banned in the Soviet Union, apparently because of its anti-Marxist overtones. It was a best seller abroad. The Moscow broadcast did not mention the prison terms, but it had been reported in the West that Mrs. Ivinskaya got eight years and her daughter three.

Three other bombs have exploded in Panama City since Jan. 14. All were directed at the cars or homes of persons who publicly opposed communism or Cuban Prime Minister Fidel Castro.

More subdued colors are used for traditional decor. If you are the type who likes wild patterns, be sure to use rugs in small doses or the rugs may overpower your decorating plan. Miss Harvey says, advising too that you avoid using small rugs in too high a pile as heels may get tangled and the floor covering may slide, causing a bad spill.

"The floor is the first thing you see when you enter a room," she says. "So it should be as smooth as wax and regular care can make it. In these days of area rugs, when they can be removed for easy cleaning, there is no reason for a rug not to be a complement to the floor and decor."

Bringing Up A Family

By GARRY C. MEYERS

Cutting, Pasting Offer Good Training

At home all day, day after day, with the tot from three to five or six, you often find it hard to think of ways he can amuse himself indoors for appreciable periods of time. Cutting, pasting and drawing offer good resources and he will often like to do this where he can see and talk to you.

While you are Dr. Garry Meyers busy in the kitchen or another room. Wisely, you will keep all the wrapping paper, smoothing it out in large sheets and putting it on a shelf or in a box. You can supplement this with wallpaper remnants or such other papers as are usually to be found in any home. The child will also need snub-nosed scissors and some paste you can easily make from flour and water.

Let him sit comfortably by a low table or stand by the kitchen table, from which the mess can easily be cleaned up.

LET HIM CUT pictures from old newspapers and magazines and paste them on a sheet of cardboard or heavy paper. With a little guidance, he may learn not to space his pictures too widely apart so he won't soon run out of materials.

Also, he may like to draw or paint pictures with water colors on the wrapping paper or other sheets, sometimes cutting out and mounting these to his liking.

All this can prove good preparation for similar activities at school later, where he can build on these early home skills.

Before long he may, with some skillful suggestions from you, choose pictures to cut out and paste according to a plan—a page of animals, or one of persons or toys. Thus he will begin to practice classifying, a basic element in thinking and reasoning.

Even before he is five or six, he may be fascinated with finding, cutting out and pasting on one sheet pictures of things which sound alike or rhyme, such as hat, cat, bat; fan, man, pan; boat, coat, goat.

AS HE sees these pictures and says the words together, he might want to say more which rhyme with each group but can't be pictured like sat, fat, pat; an, ran, tan; note, wrote, tote.

He soon may also be eager to look for and cut out pictures whose names begin with the same sound, like boat, bowl, ball; can, car, cat; chain, chair, child. See what good practice with sounds he will be getting.

In these earlier stages you should hardly bother him with having the word naming the thing under it. That could come later.

Of course you might give him a color book. In it he learns to compare colors and to keep inside the lines. But this hardly affords the education which cutting and pasting can.

Certainly it is not so good as when he paints or draws and colors pictures of his own. Indeed, his using color books too long can dull his creative interests and skills. My bulletins, "Letting Little Children Learn" and "The Beginnings of Imagination," may be had by sending a self-addressed, stamped envelope to me in care of this newspaper.

Detroit Pair Charged With Killing Cab Driver

BOWLING GREEN, Ohio (AP)

—Two Detroit men were scheduled to be arraigned today on murder charges in the stab-slaying of a Michigan cab driver who reportedly refused to give them back their fare after taking them into Ohio on a drinking spree.

Wood County Prosecutor Don Simmons was undecided Sunday night whether he would bring first or second-degree murder charges against Raymond P. McDonald, 27, and Jerry W. Taylor, 21, at their arraignment in nearby Fostoria Municipal Court.

Sheriff Earl Rife said the pair had admitted slaying Elmer H. Walker, 30, of Taylor Center, Mich., a Detroit suburb, early Sunday after a fight developed over the taxi fare.

The victim's body, with stab wounds in the chest, head and neck, was found on a Wood County road Sunday morning by a milkman on his rounds. The slaying scene is a few miles northwest of Fostoria.

Brunette to Blonde in Three Easy Steps!

Now any homeowner, like the one shown in the photo above, can change an old dark wood surface to a popular blonde or light wood finish without scraping or removing the old finish. A new wood finish especially designed for the older painted or stained furniture gives you a stained effect that is tough and chip-proof without spending time or patience stripping away the old surface, sanding and restaining.

It's as simple as one, two, three! The homeowner at the right is completing the first step—a base coat in the same color as the desired finish. Next a coat of color grain is applied and then the stained effects are created with a dry brush as shown in the inset. Finally, an application of a clear finish results in a final product like the end table at the left, which was previously the same color as the chair.

This means that the old table handed down from Aunt Sue or the fine old chair in the attic, garage, or basement can take its place with newer home furnishings. With a minimum of effort and three simple, foolproof steps, anyone can make the transformation from old-fashion to modern.

Ann Landers

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Trouble Maker

Dear Ann Landers: My husband has a problem that is so weird he's afraid to tell anyone. Recently he dreamed he took a bite out of a bar of soap. For several hours after awakening he felt nauseated and couldn't eat. Last week he dreamed he had his appendix removed and when he woke up he not only felt as though he had been through surgery, but he looked like it. Last night he dreamed someone slammed the car door on his foot. This morning he's limping and swears he's in physical pain. Is this possible? I say "NO." After all, nothing actually happened to his foot. What should he do — see a doctor? It all sounds so foolish. Please help. — SHOOK.

Dear Shook: It IS possible that your husband is in pain and he should see a doctor — not a foot doctor but a head doctor. An imagined pain can be just as severe as a real one.

Since your husband is so good at dreaming it's too bad he doesn't treat himself to something better than an appendectomy or a smashed foot.

Dear Ann: Aren't you supposed to help people get along better? I think you try to start trouble.

How dare you call a sensible father a "sourpuss" just because he told his 9-year-old, blabber-mouth kid to shut up during dinner?

Don't you know that the number of juvenile delinquents is staggering — and it's getting worse all the time?

These kids got delinquent at home because nobody taught them respect for authority. If more parents had the courage to stand up to their kids we wouldn't be faced with this national problem.

I see nothing wrong with a father saying to his children, "Shut up at the dinner table. You're here to eat." Every family should say grace before meals and that should be the end of the talking. — JUST AMAZED.

Dear Just: As you see it, this is what should take place at America's dinner tables.

The father speaks: "Lord, we thank thee for this food and for the numerous blessings which you have given us this day. Now, kids, shut up and eat. That's what you're at the table for." (End of conversation.)

Sorry, Dad, but I think meal-time should provide a chance for kids to feed their spirits as well as their bodies. It ought to be a pleasant period for enjoying one another's company. In my book, food that is eaten alone or in silence may as well be hay.

Who's Sorry Now?

Dear Ann: I married a man who seemed like a go-getter. He hit a few bad breaks in business and I decided he'd never make the grade. I divorced him after his second business flop because I didn't want to scratch through life like my mother did.

Eight years have passed and he has hit it big in several oil deals. He's married to a mousy little thing with no zing. I could do a lot for him. How does a gal win back her first love? — DELORES.

Dear Delores: Forget it. Funny how he hit it big right after he unloaded you. Maybe that zingless little mouse is just what he needed.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Review, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Board Will Meet Again On Hiring Of Architect

The Southern Local Board of Education will meet again tonight at 7:30 to complete selection of an architect to design a proposed new high school for the district.

The meeting will be in the Salineville High School cafeteria. The board met Sunday afternoon but failed to make a selection from three candidates. The selection now is between Robert Beatty, East Liverpool architect, and Hanahan & Strollo of Youngstown.

The board also had interviewed Myron Goodwin of Youngstown. The board visited school sites designed by the three last week.

The state has authorized a $404,000 grant and the district is slated to vote on a proposed $356,000 bond issue for the new school.

Soviet Boosts Disarm Plan

MOSCOW (AP)—Mikhail Suslov, one of the Soviet Communist party's top theoreticians, has called again for adoption of Premier Khrushchev's plan for universal disarmament to "abolish the very possibility of waging wars."

The Soviet news agency Tass gave no indication that Suslov, in his speech to the party's Central Committee Jan. 18, proposed any system of checks or inspections such as the West demands.

"The time has come," Suslov said, "when it is possible to curb the attempts of imperialist aggressors to touch off a world war, when it is possible to avert it."

Suslov reported to the Central Committee on last November's summit meeting in Moscow of world Communist leaders. He reiterated the position taken at that conference by Khrushchev—that war is not inevitable.

Robbery Case Hearing Fixed

Two Clevelanders who slugged and robbed a Canfield service station attendant of $300 early Saturday morning have been charged with unarmed robbery and will receive preliminary hearings Tuesday night at 8 before Mayor Earl M. Rousebush of Canfield.

The two, James Harton Jr., 25, and Kyle Sexton, 17, were captured a short time after the robbery on Route 344 just south of Columbiana by Patrolman W. R. Jones of the Lisbon Barracks of the State Highway Patrol.

The pair is being held in Mahoning County Jail. They admitted the robbery, according to Canfield Police Chief Carl Payne.

The two slugged and robbed Jerry Williams, 19, of Canfield, an attendant at the Cornick Oil Co. on Route 244 just inside the Canfield city limits.

Williams provided police with their description and the license number of their car. An alert was broadcast and they were spotted just north of Columbiana on Route 46 by Patrolman Jones.

He chased the two into Columbiana, through the village and finally forced them off the road just south of the town.

Harton and Sexton told police they went to Canfield from Washington, Pa., where they had been visiting. They said they decided on the robbery because they only had a few cents between them.

Elders Returned At Church Voting

Dr. William J. Horger, Dale Horger and Laird J. Christen were re-elected elders for three years at a congregational meeting of the Grace United Presbyterian Church Sunday following morning worship.

Mrs. Lillian Clemenson was re-elected as deaconess for three years and Lynn Cowan was elected and ordained a deacon.

Elected to the Board of Trustees for three years were Alvin T. Babb, Joseph G. Barrett and Keith Langdon. Named as chairman of the board was Lee W. Hamilton, with Langdon as secretary.

A budget of about $16,000 was adopted by the congregation. The Rev. Edward John Phinn, pastor, moderated the congregational meeting and Hamilton conducted the corporation meeting.

Television Is Still Pretty Bloody

More crime and brutality are being televised today than ever before, says the National Association for Better Radio and TV, but it just isn't true.

At least it isn't true if we are to assume that the good members of NABRAT know how to count.

Their most recent cataloging of violence on the Hal Humphrey seven Los Angeles TV channels before 9 p.m. reveals 144 murders committed during one week last November. However, a quick peek into my NABRAT file for 1958 shows that in May of that year for one week there were 161 TV murders committed before 9 o'clock in the evening on the same seven Los Angeles channels.

The 1958 report shows 192 attempted murders to 143 in the 1960 week's count. "Justifiable" killings dropped from 60 to 53, robberies decreased from 83 to 36 and jailbreaks slid from 21 to 12. Two suicides were recorded in '58, but none in NABRAT's '60 survey.

GRANTED there still is room for improvement where TV's crime rate is concerned, the NABRAT count in Los Angeles does indicate that TV's portrayals of mayhem either aren't trying as hard as they did in 1958, or perhaps they had an off-week there last November. That can happen to anybody.

What really needs serious emphasis by the NABRAT people is the fact that this slaughter and sadism takes place before 9 p.m. Seven nights a week, a major portion of the country's kid population under 12 years of age sits suspended in an atmosphere where life is presented as a constant pitched battle between people with guns, knives and assorted other weapons.

Speaking before the American Legion in Miami Oct. 18, FBI chief J. Edgar Hoover said, "The continuous diet of mayhem, murder and violence served daily to our television audiences constitutes a monumental insult to the genius that developed this medium of mass communication."

HE MIGHT have added that it (the TV diet) also is an insult to the FBI and every other government law enforcement agency in the country.

More often than not, a private-eye or a super-slick attorney has to bring the TV criminal to justice, and the cops are either left out entirely or depicted as bumbling fools with less crime detection savvy than the average kid watching the TV set.

This type of brainwashing unquestionably breeds contempt for authority among large numbers of kid viewers, and we're all going to pay for it in a variety of ways.

Organizations like NABRAT have pleaded with the networks to soft-pedal the crime and violence on TV. They also have tried to educate parents to be more disciplinary and discriminating when turning their offspring over to the TV set.

THESE PLEAS have had little appreciable effect on the TV industry, and it is doubtful that the seriousness of the situation has been impressed on many parents.

Perhaps it is time for our top educators, TV sponsors and police authorities to sit in committee and take on the responsibility of finding means for impressing our young viewers with the knowledge that there are other ways of settling arguments than by shooting your adversary or breaking his skull open.

If the TV sponsors are convinced that some of the programs they are purveying are bidding fair to corrupt our future generation of adults, they surely can and will influence network TV program producers to put a little more emphasis on brain matter and less on skull-busting.

We pose as a peace-loving nation to the rest of the world, yet no other nation presents as much physical combat to its kids as we do. There's a flaw in this image somewhere, and it's time we thought about patching it up.

Blind Patients Hear Students

About 70 attended a party for the blind at Beaver Falls Saturday evening and heard a program featuring the 40-member wind ensemble of Midland Lincoln High School.

A party for the blind is sponsored each month by the Beaver County Association of Lions Clubs. The Midland club was in charge of the program Saturday evening. John Shannon was program chairman.

Midland club members and wives attending were Mr. and Mrs. Shannon, Mr. and Mrs. Tom Reed, who were in charge of the lunch, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Schlosser, Donald Craik, Lou Glumac and Albert Masters, blind persons.

Some 25 blind persons attended. There were games and prizes. The ensemble, under the direction of Charles P. Henderson, director, presents a 40-minute program of Broadway show music, Latin rhythms and some jazz.

The club's next meeting will be Thursday at 6:30 p. m. at Deramo's Restaurant. The Father, Son and Daughter Banquet has been postponed until Feb. 9.

Sebring Ware Plant Levelled In Costly Fire

SEBRING — An estimated 300 workers were idle today as the aftermath of a $750,000 fire Saturday night that destroyed the plant of the Stanford Art Pottery, Inc., the East Ohio Machinery Co. and the Sebring Container Corp. and threatened the nearby plant of Royal China, Inc.

About 100 firemen from at least four neighboring communities battled three hours to bring the blaze under control after it was touched off by an explosion about 8 Saturday night.

Only two men were on duty in the pottery at the time the fire broke out and both escaped safely. They were a watchman and a kilnman. Firemen and equipment quickly became encumbered with ice as the water froze in the 8-degree temperature.

Firemen said an explosion in a kiln at the Sanford plant may have touched off the blaze, one of the worst in Sebring's history. Flames shot high above the two-story brick building before the front wall finally collapsed. Stiff winds whipped the flames. Cardboard in the container firm's plant helped feed the fire.

Firemen poured water onto the huge Royal China dinnerware plant across the street and succeeded in preventing the blaze from spreading there.

In addition to Sebring firemen, the blaze was fought by volunteers from Alliance, Damascus, Deerfield and Beloit.

New Bills Studied In West Virginia

CHARLESTON (AP) — The Legislature had plenty of work to tackle when it reconvened today to begin the second full week of the 60-day session.

The preliminaries of organizing were behind and so were two successive long weekend recesses, for the gubernatorial and presidential inaugurations.

While a sizable amount of work awaited senators and delegates when they returned over icy highways for today's 2 p.m. meetings, nearly all of it was in committees.

None of the 106 bills — 36 in the Senate and 70 in the House — introduced through the end of last week had yet been reported to the floor from committee.

The only bills which have yet been on the floor for action were two in each house to put into effect Gov. Barron's $7.5-million emergency public works program, financed by a temporary retail sales tax increase. Committees were bypassed to expedite these bills. The tax increase took effect a week ago.

Now committees have before them part of the bills to start Barron's long-range program for economic development, roads, schools and other state improvements.

According to the Bible, Esau and Jacob, the sons of Isaac and Rebekah (Gen.25:24), were the first twins.

Writers Honor Perry Tonight

CLEVELAND (AP)—A man on his honeymoon will be honored tonight by the Cleveland Baseball Writers as "Man of the Year" for 1966.

The blushing bridegroom is Jim Perry, who will be saluted by 600 fans attending the annual Ribs and Roast show at the Hotel Hollenden.

The 24-year-old pitcher, an unanimous choice as the Indians' best player last season, was married Dec. 3 to Daphne Snell, "the girl from back home."

"We spent a few days in Virginia after the wedding," Perry said Sunday night, "but decided to make the trip to Cleveland our real honeymoon."

Perry, who won 18 and lost 10 in his sophomore season, was to visit the Stadium office as his first order of business today. He wanted to discuss the terms of his unsigned contract with Walter (Hot) Evers, acting head of player personnel for the club.

One of the highlights of the show will be the appearance of Frank Lane, who quit as general manager of the Indians earlier this month to take a similar post with the Kansas City Athletics. He has promised the writers he will return for the show "so you won't have to rewrite all that good material."

OSU Is Quick To Adjust As Gophers' Plan Fails

By JOE MOOSHIL

Associated Press Sports Writer

Somewhere along the line the Big Ten's unwritten law of not using the zone defense in basketball apparently has gone by the boards.

One reason could be that the losing teams are getting tired of being pummeled. Another is that some coaches see no other way of stopping Ohio State's powerful Buckeyes.

Zone of no zone, nobody has been able to defeat Ohio State and indications are that the problem no longer is how to beat the Buckeyes but rather how to make a game of it when playing the nation's No. 1 team.

Minnesota, one of the Big Ten's weaker basketball clubs, tried ball control tactics against Ohio State Saturday. The Buckeyes won 75-56, but Minnesota had its moments.

The Gophers pulled their tall men out on the court, drawing the Buckeyes away from the defensive boards. Minnesota took an 8-1 lead but was trailing 34-25 at the half as Ohio State adjusted to the strategy.

Minnesota coach Johnny Kundla

was almost apologetic after the game and told Ohio State coach Fred Taylor "we did what we felt we had to do if we were going to make a game of it. Ohio State is a truly fine team."

The result of the Minnesota-Ohio game was never in question. The Buckeyes, playing at home, were big favorites but such was not the case in the Iowa-Purdue game which was rated a tossup. Purdue won 47-41.

That's quite a low score, considering that Purdue star Terry Dischinger has scored 40 points in one game. The reason was the zone defense. Both teams used it effectively.

At the half it was Purdue 23, Iowa 14. Dischinger, playing with a bandaged middle finger on his right hand because of a cut received earlier in the week, was held to 19 points but was high for the game. Iowa ace Don Nelson led his team with 13.

Minnesota, Purdue and Iowa aren't the only teams working on variations of the zone defense. Northwestern pulled it against Ohio State to little avail.

So far this year, the only team to score 90 points in a conference game was Ohio State in a 91-65 victory over Illinois, an exponent of run-and-shoot basketball. Illinois coach Harry Combes, comment after the game was "it wasn't even a contest." And his praise was for the Buckeye defense.

There is no question that some of the Big Ten teams are in the process of changing the league from one interested in offense to one which will stress defense. Whether the cycle will be completed or eventually junked remains to be seen.

But in the last three years, six teams have scored 90 or more points in a conference game only to wind up losing. This year, the only winner to hit the 90 mark has been Ohio State.

It will be interesting to see the kind of basketball strategy used in Columbus Saturday when Purdue and Ohio State clash. OSU will take a perfect record into the contest. Purdue could do the same if it gets by Northwestern tonight.

Northwestern scored its first Big Ten victory at Michigan State, 77-62, Saturday. Tonight's only other game finds Michigan State at Minnesota in a second-division battle.

Leetonia Gains 70-68 Nod In Overtime Tilt

LEETONIA—The Leetonia Bears surprised Louisville with a 70-68 overtime victory here Saturday night.

Leetonia tallied eight points in the three-minute overtime period to grab its fourth victory in 11 games this season.

Coach Len Batcha's team was leading its Tri-County opponents, 62-50 with only five seconds remaining, but Gary Allen dropped in two fouls which tied the count for Louisville.

The game was a thriller all the way. Leetonia was on top 19-18 at the first quarter mark, fell behind 35-33 at halftime and the two clubs were deadlocked again at the end of the third period, 53-53.

A 24-point contribution from Jim Lehman paced Leetonia, while Allen of Louisville took scoring honors with 27.

Juillerat Named To Findlay Post

FINDLAY, Ohio (AP)—Louis B. Juillerat, head football coach at Troy High School, was named today as head football coach and athletic director at Findlay College, effective July 6.

Juillerat had been selected to coach the South high school all-stars in a game against the North all-stars at Canton Aug. 12. He will be the third South coach in four years to forfeit the position by accepting college employment.

He has been a college football mentor before, however.

At Findlay, Juillerat will replace Jim Houdeshell as head football coach.

The 45-year-old Juillerat, a Georgia native, is a product of Akron South High School, Muskingum College and Ohio State.

He has been at Troy since 1954. Before that he was head coach at Baldwin-Wallace College (1951-54), head coach at Akron South (1948-51), line coach at Cuyahoga Falls High School (1946-48), a lieutenant in the U.S. Naval Reserve (1942-46), head coach at Tallmadge High School (1941-42) and line coach at Coventry High School (1940-41).

Missouri Bowler Cops Top Prize In All-Star Meet

SAN BERNARDINO, Calif. (AP)—Bill Tucker of Rock Hill, Mo., who bowls only as a hobby and hates to practice, is the 1961 winner of the $10,000 men's title in the All-Star Bowling Tournament.

The $5,000 women's title went to Phyllis Notaro, who practices regularly and says "bowling is my life." She's a 33-year-old bowling instructor from Brant, N.Y.

Tucker won the title Saturday night after a split match with Dick Weber of St. Louis in a position round. Weber finished second. Ray Bluth of St. Louis took third.

Tucker had 318-49 Petersen points, 40 1-3 victories and 23½ losses; Weber, 309-11, 38 and 26 and Bluth, 307, 36½ and 27½.

In the Petersen point system, a bowler receives one point for each game won and one point for every 50 points knocked down. A player who outscored an opponent while losing a majority of games gets an extra half point.

Miss Notaro won the women's crown after splitting her last-round duel with Shirley Garms of Chicago, who tumbled to third place. Hope Riccilli of Downey, Calif., won second place money by sweeping her last two games.

He has been at Troy since 1954. Before that he was head coach at Baldwin-Wallace College (1951-54), head coach at Akron South (1948-51), line coach at Cuyahoga Falls High School (1946-48), a lieutenant in the U.S. Naval Reserve (1942-46), head coach at Tallmadge High School (1941-42) and line coach at Coventry High School (1940-41).

Ray Berry of the Baltimore Colts led the National Football League in pass receiving last season. He caught 74, ten of which were good for touchdowns.

Chester Loses, 87-45, In 'Fouled-Up' Battle

In a contest marked by heavy fouling, Chester went down to defeat at the hands of Benwood Union, 87-45, Saturday night at Benwood.

Between the two teams, 75 fouls were shot. Benwood netted 31 out of 45 and the Panthers 17 of 30.

During the drawn out contest, Benwood took an early 21-9 lead at the first quarter post and led at halftime, 38-23. By the end of the third quarter the game was completely out of Chester's reach at 56-32.

Coach Max Tuttle's squad now has lost eight games in 11 starts. Cox of Benwood Union had a field day from the foul line and wound up with scoring honors. He fired in five field goals and went to the foul line 21 times and converted 18. Gongola added 13 points to the attack.

Chester's scoring was well divided, with eight different cagers contributing points. Blaine Pinney, Jerry Smith and Keith Sayre totaled nine each.

The Panthers return to action Tuesday on their home court against Jefferson Union.

The Chester reserves picked up a 29-28 victory in the preliminary.

Tom Czech, East Liverpool's 140-pound wrestler, lost a close decision to Scordos. The Martins Ferry grappler picked up the decision on riding time.

It will be puncher against puncher in the Saturday night television fight matching middleweights Rory Calhoun and Florentino Fernandez.

They clash in a ten-rounder—ABC TV, 10 p.m., EST—at New York's Madison Square Garden.

The winner probably will earn a berth in the 160-pound division's top ten although neither is a ranking middleweight now.

Fernandez has a 28-2 record, including 22 knockouts. Calhoun's record is 45-10-2, including 21 kayos.

Lightweight contender Kenny Lane of Muskegon, Mich., meets newcomer Joe Stable of Cuba in the main ten-rounder at New York's St. Nicholas arena tonight.

The Cuban, 24, a stablemate of welterweight champion Benny (Kid) Paret, beat Chico Velez in his U.S. debut in the Garden last month. He has a 12-1-1 record, including three kayos. Lane, 28, has a 62-9 record including 13 knockouts.

Rosburg Sinks 14-Footer To Wrap Up Title In Crosby Golf

Ex-Stanford Star Picks Up $5,300 Check

By JACK STEVENSON

Associated Press Sports Writer
PEBBLE BEACH, Calif. (AP)—Bob Rosburg's long experience with the Pebble Beach course plus a great pressure putt on the final hole brought him the $5,300 first-prize check in Bing Crosby's 20th annual golf tournament.

"I knew I had to make it," Rosburg said of the 14-foot slightly hooking putt he sank for a birdie four on the final hole Sunday for an even-par 72 and a winning 282 for the 72 holes.

Still the ex-Stanford star who won the PGA tournament in 1959 for his last major victory had to wait a half hour to see if Bill Collins was going to beat him. Collins, of Baltimore, needed even par for the final two holes to tie and a birdie on one to win.

Collins went one-over-par on the 17th when his tee shot was trapped on the 218-yard, par three hole. He still could have tied with a birdie four on the 18th and his third shot stopped about 15 feet from the cup. Bill promptly missed two putts, the second from two feet, and took a six. Collins got only $1,625 for a tie for fourth. His 75 gave him a 284.

Deadlocked for second, one stroke off the pace at 283, were Roberto de Vicenzo of Mexico City and Dave Ragan of Orlando, Fla. De Vicenzo shot a 75 final round and Ragan a 74.

Rosburg, 34, a resident of Palo Alto, Calif., who plays out of Overland Park, Kans., needed to make up seven strokes to catch the third-round leader Ted Kroll of Ft. Lauderdale, Fla., who had a 203 through 54 holes. Ted blew up with an 81 and a 284.

For a time it appeared Arnold Palmer, golfer-of-the-year in 1960 would take it all here. But a 41 on the final nine and 75 total left him at 284 with Kroll and Gardner Dickinson who was one of three sub-par shooters here Sunday with a one-under 71. Johnny Pott also eclipsed par for a stroke for a 285 total.

Lucas-Dischinger Meeting Features College Picture Saturday At OSU

By JIM KLOBUCHAR

MINNEAPOLIS (AP)—The epic meeting Saturday between Ohio State's Jerry Lucas and Purdue's Terry Dischinger may be more a sideswipe than a collision, an interested third party said today. "I don't see how anybody can afford to let those guys guard each other," commented sophomore center Tom McGrann of Minnesota. "For one thing, I don't know how they'd stop each other, and one or both would run up a lot of fouls."

The young Minnesotan has just finished a harrowing week that could only be styled Part 1 of the basketball education of Tom McGrann. On successive Saturdays, in his first year in the Big Ten, he found himself guarding two great Olympic basketball players. The Gophers lost Saturday to top-ranked Ohio State, 75-56. "You can't compare them, really," McGrann said. "Lucas has that tremendous strength, jumping power and scoring knack around the basket. He got 22 points against us and he didn't take more than one or two shots, what you'd really call basketball shots."

He just owns that backboard and anything that comes down he gets—and scores with. When he has to shoot, of course, he can. "Dischinger? He does it by maneuvering and by shooting from outside. He'll get the ball, turn around and face you. He's got a soft jump shot or he can turn and drive around you. You know this. And he realizes you know this. So he waits for you to make a mistake. Usually you do."

McGrann is a bouncy, well-adjusted sort who came out of those encounters without any lasting psychological scars. "All I know is that they're going to play Saturday on television and here's one guy who's going to be watching." Dischinger, last year's Big Ten scoring king, bagged 29 points against Minnesota but McGrann—whose 6-7 matched Terry's height—played him evenly for one half before Dischinger started buzzing. McGrann is certain Ohio State will use 6-6 John Havlicek defensively against Dischinger, sparing Lucas possible foul trouble and fastening a faster man on the Boilermaker star.

"I don't know how it will come out," he said, "but Dischinger is going to think he's got another short on before Havlicek is through."

Nats, Pistons Hottest Clubs But Off Pace

By The Associated Press

The two hottest clubs in the National Basketball Association today are the Detroit Pistons and the Syracuse Nationals—but both are rushing along on a treadmill.

Each has won five games in a row, yet the Pistons remain 8½ games behind the St. Louis Hawks in the Western Division and the Nats still are third in the Eastern Division, 10 games back of the first place Boston Celtics and 7½ behind the Philadelphia Warriors.

The Pistons cut down the Warriors, 136-128, Sunday and the Nats turned back the Los Angeles Lakers, 112-109. In the other game, the Cincinnati Royals downed the Hawks, 115-108.

Gene Shue had 32 points for the Pistons and Bailey Howell chipped in with 31. Just as important in the triumph was the fact that the Pistons held Wilt Chamberlain to 28 points.

The triumph was the Pistons seventh in their last eight starts. "The Nats trailed the Lakers for three periods and couldn't pull into a tie at 89-all until midway in the fourth period. The lead seceded back and fourth until the Lakers went ahead, 109-108 with less than a minute to go."

But then Dick Barnett went to work and plunked in two baskets for the Nats before time ran out. The triumph was the Nats seventh in their last eight games.

The Royals proved finally that they can win without Oscar Robertson. Until Sunday they hadn't won a game all season without the Big O.

Wayne Embry and Jack Twyman supplied most of the Royals punch in their last finish in the nationally televised game. Embry finished with 28 points and 18 rebounds, while Twyman dropped in 14 points in the final quarter.

Saturday, Detroit whipped Cincinnati, 130-106; Syracuse turned back Boston, 127-124; St. Louis clipped New York, 145-122, and Philadelphia vanquished Los Angeles, 136-111.

Bucks Streak Hits 18; Iowa Upset By Purdue

By DON WEISS

Associated Press Sports Writer
The folks in the midlands who say Terry Dischinger is as good as Olympic teammate Jerry Lucas and that Ohio State is far from invincible get a chance to test their theory this week as college basketball begins to bust out of its mid-term doldrums.

Dischinger, probably destined to spend his college career in Lucas' shadow, has a head-to-head meeting with the big Buckeye All-America on Saturday afternoon when Purdue and top-ranked Ohio State collide at Columbus, Ohio, for the Big Ten lead.

The 6-6 Dischinger, shrugging off a badly cut finger suffered in a chemistry lab accident, scored 19 points as Purdue (9-3) bounced fourth-ranked Iowa off a 10-game winning streak and out of the Big Ten lead with a 47-41 thumping last Saturday night. Talented Terry is expected to be fully recovered by the time the Boilermakers get at the Buckeyes, their top national ranking, and their nation-leading 18-game winning streak.

Purdue first has a conference test at much-beaten Northwestern tonight, but this one doesn't figure to be much more than a warm-up for the big Saturday game.

If it's a slow-down Coach Ray Eddy has in mind, he may find Ohio State less inclined to control than the Hawkeyes were over the weekend.

Minnesota Coach John Kundla tried it against Ohio State and it befuddled the Bucks only for 5 minutes. Behind 8-1 at the time, the defending NCAA champions switched into an aggressive, ball-hawking defense, reeled off eight straight points and went on to a 75-56 victory with Lucas scoring 22 points and his starting mates all hitting in double figures.

The Purdue-Ohio State showdown is the feature game on a big program Saturday as basketball swings back into full-time activity.

It'll likely be a vastly shuffled top 10 in the AP poll next week. Although Ohio State, second-ranked St. Bonaventure, and sixth-ranked North Carolina went unbeaten through last week, and three others—Bradley, Duke and St. John's—were idle, the top 10 combined had only a 6-5 won-loss record.

Iowa, before losing to Purdue, had defeated Illinois. Fifth-ranked Louisville split a pair during the week—losing to Xavier of Ohio 84-77 before bouncing back to top-ple Dayton 63-50 in the national TV game Saturday. Seventh-ranked DePaul, unbeaten a week ago, lost twice—to Notre Dame and Western Michigan. Tenth-ranked Kansas State also lost its only start—to Kansas.

Six Teams Remain Unbeaten In YMCA-Church Loop Race

Three teams in each division remained undefeated in the YMCA-Junior Church League Saturday by posting their second victories.

In the Iptier-Collegiate Division Trinity U.P., Calvary Methodist and Boyce Methodist are tied for first place while the Collegiate Loop shows a three-way deadlock between Grace U. P., First Methodist and Second Presbyterian.

The Calvary five scored an 18-13 win over Orchard Grove as Hanzelman's six points led the way. Stephens had five for the losers.

Boyce Methodist topped St. John's, 20-14 with Evans scoring 13 points. Rick Forzano tallied half of his team's 14 points.

Trinity U.P. cashed in on a tight, 18-17 win over St. Stephens. Phil Fuhrer hit for eight points to lead the winners while Massey's seven markers topped St. Stephens.

Wellsville Central gained its first victory by topping First U. P., 21-13 to round out the Inter-Collegiate action. Call tallied nine points for the winners while Massey's seven markers topped St. Stephens.

Over in the Collegiate League, First Methodist downed Chester Methodist, 13-7 as Agnew scored three points. Davis and Forsythe had three each for the losers.

Joe Golden and Maltrich scored all of Second U. P.'s points in a 24-14 win over First Church of Christ. Golden had 14 and Maltrich 10. Kinsey scored nine for the losing team.

Dennis Horger's 10 points pace Grace U. P. to a 25-7 win over Oakland Free Methodist. Bob Lane was high for the losers with five.

In another contest, Newell Presbyterian won its first game with a 21-15 decision over Chester Nazarene. Raimond led Newell with 12 while Midcap dropped in 10 for the Chester five.

Eagles' Assistant Coach Named To Fill Shaw's Post

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Assistant Coach Nick Skorich today was named to succeed the recently resigned Buck Shaw as head coach of the National Football League champion Eagles. He was given a three-year contract.

Skorich, 39, was a football star at the University of Cincinnati. He came here as an assistant to Shaw in 1959.

Skorich played professional football with the Pittsburgh Steelers and Green Bay Packers.

Hugh Bell led Yonkers Raceway harness drivers by a wide margin in 1960. He rode 75 winners, 39 more than Jimmy Cruise who was second best.

Rochester Team Has Tough Time In And Out Of Hockey

By The Associated Press
The weekend of Jan. 21-22, 1961 long will be remembered by the Rochester Americans of the American Hockey League.

In the space of two days, they dropped a 2-1 overtime decision to the Barons at Cleveland, were involved in a bus-truck collision, were handed their first home shut-out of the season when they bowed to Hershey 2-0 and fell to fifth place in the standings.

The collision occurred Sunday en route from Cleveland on the New York State Thruway. The players escaped with minor cuts and bruises but Trainer Dan Canney suffered a broken collar bone and the driver of their bus was injured more seriously.

But the Amerks were so badly shaken up they had no answer for the Bears' spirited play and were unable to break through goalie Bobby Perreault, who made 32 saves as Hershey moved out of a tie with Rochester into third place.

Cleveland made the biggest gain over the weekend, following up its Saturday night victory over Rochester with a 5-2 conquest of Buffalo Sunday for their third triumph in as many nights.

The Bisons beat Hershey 4-1 Saturday. Providence split a pair, beating pace-setting Springfield 3-2 Saturday and bowing Sunday to Quebec 9-1 as the Aces swung into action after a 10-day layoff.

Bill Dineen was the big gun in the Barons' victory over the Bisons, coming up with two goals.

Record Number Enter

Monte Carlo Auto Race

MONTE CARLO (AP) — A record number of entrants remained in the Monte Carlo auto rally today thanks to some of the best weather in rally history.

With the long drive to Monte Carlo more than half over only a handful of the driving teams which started from eight European cities Saturday had been eliminated and very few had been penalized.

Rally officials were predicting a record number of drivers may wind up in Monte Carlo Tuesday without penalization—thus making selection of an overall winner difficult if not impossible.

Man Charged In Iowa Fund Embezzling

SHELDON, Iowa (AP)—Two of Sheldon's leading citizens—a bank cashier and the president of its biggest industry—were in the same jail today, accused of participating in a $2-million bank embezzlement.

Federal agents arrested Harold Eugene Kistner Jr., 35, Saturday night at his home. He was taken to Woodbury County Jail in Sioux City, where Burnice Geiger, 58, has been held for a week. She has admitted the embezzlement that closed the bank, police said.

Mrs. Geiger was assistant cashier and a member of the board of the Sheldon National Bank. Kistner, charged with aiding and abetting Mrs. Geiger in draining sizable sums from the bank, was the former president of the Northern Biochemical Corp.

Mrs. Geiger, the principal stockholder in Biochemical, owned more than a third of the firm's shares.

Elliott Roosevelt, son of the late president, was scheduled to speak to Biochemical employees today in a meeting open to townspeople. Roosevelt is economic adviser to the firm, which mixes and sells animal feeds.

The company closed its plant Sunday for the first time since last April.

No reason for the shutdown was given. Operations began again at midnight with the full shift returning to duty.

Mrs. Geiger was visited Sunday by her husband Wallace, a Sheldon merchant, for the first time since she was jailed last Monday. He announced two Sioux City attorneys had been employed to represent her.

Authorities said Kistner was accused of helping Mrs. Geiger drain large sums of money from the bank. They said he wrote checks without having the money on deposit and Mrs. Geiger apparently accepted the checks but did not charge the amounts to Northern Biochemical's accounts.

Kistner was fired as president of the company by the board of directors last Friday after numerous criticisms by Roosevelt of the firm's financial system, and after it was revealed that Kistner had been convicted of the illegal sale of securities in Nebraska several years ago.

Johansson Will Train At Palm Beach, Fla.

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP)—Palm Beach has been chosen by Ingemar Johansson as the site of his training camp for his return match with heavyweight champion Floyd Patterson March 13 at Miami Beach.

Johansson will come one day a week to Miami Beach to work out in the Municipal Auditorium next door to the Miami Beach convention hall, scene of the fight.

Patterson is due to arrive Feb. 13.

2 Features At Hialeah

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—The first full week of racing at Hialeah Park will feature two $25,000-added stakes—the Jasmine at seven furlongs on Wednesday and the Bougainvillea Turf Handicap at a mile and three sixteenths Saturday.

Paret, Dupas Signed

SYDNEY (AP)—Stadiums Limited announced today world welterweight champion Benny Paret has accepted terms to fight American Ralph Dupas, of New Orleans in a non-title contest here in March.

Eric Guerin is the last jockey to win the Delaware Handicap twice. He won with Busanda in 1951 and with Parlo in 1955.

Furnace Filters Can Cause Blaze, Firemen Caution

Air filters for furnaces should be installed only in cold air ducts, city firemen cautioned today at an East Liverpool home - owner erred over the weekend and installed the filter in a hot air run, resulting in a small fire.

Asst. Chief David Anderson pointed out the air filters have a low flash point and will become ignited if installed in a hot air run instead of the cold air duct.

"The filters have a flash point if used wrong, but there is no chance of a fire if they are installed properly in the cold air ducts," Anderson pointed out.

"Just be sure that the air filters are installed in the cold air run as they are intended to be," Anderson added.

"Anyone using them in hot air furnace runs should remove them immediately, as they may ignite," the assistant chief said.

Luckily, the city man who installed his new air filter improperly noticed the filter ablaze and jerked it from the position, thus averting a costly fire, Anderson said.

8 Die In Fire In Maryland

PASADENA, Md. (AP)—Seven Negro children and an adult who was caring for them burned to death early today when their frame house erupted in flames near here, state police reported. One child escaped.

State trooper Lester Chenoweth identified the victims as Donald L. Green, 9 months, and his sisters and brothers, Maryland, 2; Winifred, 3; Yvette, 4; Joeline, 5, and Aaron, 6.

Also burned to death were a cousin, Regina Wright, 10, and the Greens' uncle, Bernard Green, 33.

One child, Lawrence Green, 11, escaped, Chenoweth said, by jumping barefoot from a second-floor window in 10-degree weather.

The parents of the Green children, Dolores and Ernest, were visiting neighbors when the fire broke out shortly after midnight. Firemen said the tragedy apparently was caused by a faulty oil furnace.
